NORWAY AND VICINITY.

Mrs. Chester Horne has finished work at the McIntire's at East Waterford and will remain in town several days before starting for Coaticook, P. Q., for the winter.

J. Waldo Nash, I. W. Waite, Ernest W. Hutchins and Charles S. Akers returned Monday from Camp Howe, North Rumford, with three deer.

Herbert I. Holt and Jesse P. Edwards are at Camp McKinley, East Stoneham, looking up big game.

Mrs. Freeland Howe, Jr., has been in Bangor for several weeks caring for her mother, Mrs. Ann Brown. Both returned this week, as Mrs. Brown will make her home here during the winter.

Marion Haskell played two violin solos during the regular service in the Universalist church Sunday afternoon.

The Wazeemanawee Camp Fire Girls are active and the club is progressing under the leadership of Agnes Fuller. At the last meeting, Lena Richardson was admitted to membership. The gathering at the home of Ruth Marston, Norway Lake, was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Pike are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a daughter in the home on Saturday, November 18.

Florence Harriman was a week-end guest of her aunt, Mrs. Richard P. Lasselle of Gardiner.

Encouraging reports have been received from Rev. Caroline E. Angell and her condition is considered greatly improved and the danger from serious complications passed.

Clifford Buck is in town visiting his father and brothers, after which he will proceed to St. Croix in the interests of the American Realty Company at an increase in salary.

The gallery tickets for the Thanksgiving Ball Thursday evening, Nov. 30, at the Opera House, given by Pennesseewassee Lodge K. of P., will go on sale at Stone's Drug Store Saturday noon.

The ladies of the Congregational society have decided to hold their fair one day only. The date will be Friday, Dec. 8. In the evening the entertainment will be given by the talented reader, Mrs. Catherine Kennedy, who will present "Daddy Long Legs."

Alfred Dyer has started a meat business and will run a cart through the village and South Paris. Alfred is an experienced man in every department of the trade and should make good in the venture.

Payson McAllister and Phin. Curtis joined the Wild River sporting party and returned Saturday with a fine deer.

Mrs. Ira Harriman has been visiting her son, G. Ralph Harriman. She attended the Woman's Foreign Missionary Convention at Gardiner and stopped over to the Sunday School Institute at Lewiston, Thursday and Friday.

The Kare Free Klub was entertained Wednesday evening by Ruth Carroll on Cottage street. Sewing occupied the time and refreshments of candy and salted nuts were served.

Pilgrim Sunday—the first before Thanksgiving—will be observed at the Congregational church on next Sunday, Nov. 26, at 10:40 in the morning. There will be a special sermon upon the "Pilgrims" by the pastor.

Mrs. Lilla Cobb, who has been in Portland for the past few years, has returned to Norway and is now stopping at W. S. Sloan's. She plans to remain in Norway indefinitely.

Lake Temple, Pythian Sisters conferred the degree on one candidate, Tuesday evening. Pop corn and apples were served.

Ruth Cummings, who is attending the Faelten school in Boston, is expected home November 29th to remain until December 4.

Mrs. Elmer Fisk and daughter Edith of Locke's Mills were guests of Anna M. Stone, Wednesday.

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE AND BENEFIT SOCIETY

It has been thought best by some of the citizens to have a community Christmas tree, a custom that is being followed by some of the larger towns and cities.

The plan is to have a tree erected in Witherell Park or some other suitable place and decorated with electric lights and other decorations; and on Christmas Eve, or as some do, on every evening during Christmas week have an entertainment.

Have the band play a few pieces and have the boys and girls in the town schools under the direction of the teacher of music, Miss Elizabeth McCreery, sing some Christmas carols.

Also have the townspeople sing some good old fashioned Christmas music, and prayer and speaking by the pastors of the churches.

All the churches, lodges (as Odd Fellows, Masons, Knights of Pythias, Grangers, etc.,) each of the shops and the merchants' associations should have a part in it.

For instance, let each body appoint one member or delegate with one more for each one hundred persons in its body. That is, if a shop has 350 persons working in it it would be represented by one delegate plus three more delegates, or four delegates.

It would be a fine idea for the delegates to organize as a community Christmas Tree and Benefit Society, and serve as such for the year, having its president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, and an executive board of five or more delegates, the president and secretary being members of the executive board ex-officio.

Anyone wishing to give to any person in their society or place of work could hand the gift to their delegate or to any one of the executive board and said person would see that the gift was disposed of as intended.

Said society might receive donations and deposit same, if it is money, in the Norway National Bank and use it for the help of those in distress as voted by the society.

Let the people in the shops, churches, lodges, societies and commercial associations get together at once and elect or appoint delegates not later than November 30 that the delegates may organize and get to work. Everybody in the town should become interested. It will be helpful.

Business Prospect Good

Future business in the village appears excellent. The Carroll-Jellerson Co. are on a two hundred dozen per day basis, and pass out $4200 to their employees each week. Frank J. Cook, speaking for L. M. Carroll, states that, owing to large orders ahead, the daily output will increase and by January 1, 1917, the payroll will be $4500 or better.

In reviewing the situation, we find that about one-half of the factory building is occupied, but through a rigid system their product moves along smoothly and orders are delivered on time. The business is young and hardly cut its first teeth, but it requires no stretch of imagination to visualize the great possibilities for Norway when the whole factory has been taken over and the weekly money output doubled.

Horse Injured in Ran-away Mixup

A four horse runaway near the depot Wednesday morning, caused considerable excitement and serious damage to the team. The heavy team owned by Virge Littlefield of East Stoneham and driven by Florence Bean was backed upto the freight shed and the horses unbridled and baited.

One of the animals became frightened and started a stampede down the freight yard, across the tracks and up Beal St. They came in contact with a tree opposite Chester P. Gates' house and piled up, breaking the harness and causing minor damages to the wagon. One of the leaders received a tremendous blow from some object, presumably from the pole, and was badly injured in the side. The horse was led to Horace Mixer's stable, but the attending veterinary could do nothing and ordered the animal killed.

Happiness and Enviable Contentment

James O. Crooker, retired hardware dealer, extracts comfort from the fact he's not in business and will not have to stand the inevitable shrinkage of stock value on the return of peace.

He has been through it once and that is enough. Door locks costing $4.50 per gross dropped to 90 cents and nails from $7.15 to $5.50 per keg.

He is pleased to let the other fellow do the walking and take the losses. He's had his turn at it and is satisfied.

Carrying spring water to the house and economizing to pay taxes keeps him tolerably busy.

This is what he says. John A. Woodman, gentleman of ease and real estate agent, complains bitterly that his favorite brand of matches "Made in Sweden" has risen from 40 cents per gross to 95. He may yet be compelled to use home made matches!

To Our Advertisers

Remember it is only a few weeks before Christmas and you will want to run a large Christmas ad in the Advertiser. Call us up by phone at an early date and let us know what advertising space you will want. Do it now, so we can be prepared to comply with your wishes.

The Rebekahs will hold a special meeting this Thursday evening, Nov. 23. Refreshments will be served after the work.

E. B. Morrison went to Boston Thursday morning on business and expects to return Friday.

The Warner Paper Box Co. are moving their business from the Austin building on Greenleaf Avenue to the first floor next to Beal street in the Carroll-Jellerson Shoe Factory.

Nearly fifty operatives are employed in the Norway Shoe Company factory with a pay roll of nearly five hundred dollars each week. Their line of infants' shoes are taking well with the trade, and an output of thirty-six dozen pairs daily can hardly keep even with the orders now coming in.

Workmen are still re-silling the building back of C. A. Richardson's Market and partially occupied by Mr. Richardson. This is one of the buildings owned by Mrs. Helen Bartlett.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Carroll, Cottage street, entertained a party at progressive whist, Saturday evening, there being seven tables at play. By chance, the guests invited learned it was the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, and several gifts were presented during the evening. It was also the thirty-second wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Omar B. Chase, who were among the guests. Mrs. Herman L. Bartlett and George L. Curtis won the highest scores and received first prizes, and the lowest scores fell to Mrs. Harry P. Jones and Omar Chase, who were presented with the booby prizes. Refreshments of sandwiches, olives, pickles, cake, punch, salted nuts and assorted candies were served. The decorations were in pink and white, and among other gifts were several beautiful bouquets of flowers.

The Mascot of Company D Passed Away

The Company D mascot is no more, for he died Tuesday at South Paris while in a fit. His memory is to be perpetuated by J. Waldo Nash, the taxidermist, who will arrange the remains in a manner befitting an honorable Mexican wild cat. This kitten was brought home from the border and proved an affectionate playmate. Leiut. Guy Swett of South Paris carried him home after the boys were mustered out, intending to keep him in the family for an indefinite time.

Not long ago the animal showed signs of homesickness so was given a house cat for a companion. This was agreeable to the patient, but not so to the staid old feline, who rebelled and would not associate with this Mexican stranger. Everything possible was done to make life agreeable or cause early recollections to cease but the end came suddenly, leaving nothing behind except a pleasant memory and body to fill a nich in the armory at an early date.

Union Concert Sunday Evening

At the Congregational Church, Sunday evening, there will be a concert in which all the churches in the village will have a part. The concert will be for the benefit of needy families in our own community. It is hoped a large number of people may attend and contribute to this worthy purpose. If you have many things to be thankful for, remember the many who are not so blessed. Any money sent to Mrs. H. L. Horne, who has the concert in charge, will find its way into the general collection, and be turned over to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, who will use the same at their own discretion for feeding or clothing the needy in this community at this Thanksgiving time.

A Sermonette on Postal Delivery

We have no external symptoms of a carrier system. Why?

Uncle Sam, through his agent postmaster, Frank A. DeCoster, has fulfilled the first part of the agreement.

Our worthy assessors have travelled the streets and placed the proper number upon the houses.

The hardware stores have on display nickel figures and mail boxes of various patterns, finish and price. Now where is the missing cog! Echo answers "It is up to the individual house holder."

First of all secure from George W. Holmes or Ray Eastman, the right number, then select your favorite hardware dealer and purchase the receptacle. There will be nothing doing from the Washington Department until the village can stand an inspection for a clean bill. Let us act quickly and thus give an impression of thrift to those "on the outside looking in."

Jerry Ryan, who was at the farm of Mark G. Richardson at North Norway, Monday and saw three deer lying down in a pasture, shot one and the other two starting to run, he fired and brought down one of them, thus getting his quota in less than fifteen minutes. This makes four deer killed this fall within a radius of from four or five miles from the village. The first one was captured by A. W. Dunham at the first of the open season.

The supper and entertainment entitled Sally Lunn, which was to have been held at the Universalist church, has been postponed until the first week in December.

GET INTO PRINT

No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to be printed without his name and business mentioned somewhere in its columns.

This applies to all kinds of business, general stores, dry goods, grocers, furniture dealers, professional men and in fact all classes of business men.

This does not mean that you should have a whole or half or even a quarter of a page ad in every issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space.

A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell just what business is represented in a town by looking at the business lineup in the paper.

Are you represented in this paper? Why not?

The next meeting of the W. R. C. No. 45 will be in Woodman Hall Thursday evening, December 7 at 7:30. The initiatory degree will be conferred on one candidate. Refreshments will be served in charge of Mrs. Clara N. Elliott and Mrs. Jennie Richardson. This meeting will be for the annual election of officers.

Woman's Foreign Missionary Society Supper.

The ladies of Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church gave a fine chicken pie supper and entertainment at the church Thursday evening November 16.

The menu consisted of chicken pie, mashed potatoes, cranberry jelly; squash, apple, pumpkin, and mince pies; assorted cakes and doughnuts. The tables in the vestry were twice filled, over eighty being cared for. Mrs. George H. Buswell had charge of the supper and was assisted by Mrs. Ira Harriman, Mrs. Carrie Muirhead, Lillian Bisbee and Helen Pike.

An entertainment under the direction of Mrs. H. L. Nichols was largely patronized and thoroughly enjoyed. The numbers were:

Prayer by Pastor.....Rev. H. L. Nichols
Piano solo.....Olive Stone
Vocal solo.....Chester P. Gates
Dialogue, "Aunt Polly joins the Missionary Society."
Quartette selection..Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Joslin.
Patriotic March and Drill..Ethel Thompson, Elsie Kimball, Emma and Ruth Dunn, Doris Stone and Rosa Merrill.
Remarks, "Our Annual Thank Offering.....
.....Mrs. H. L. Nichols

The entertainment where Aunt Polly joined the missionary society was amusing and also instructive. Miss H. M. Taylor as Aunt Polly, and Mrs. Lizzie Joslin as Elvira, the spinster, caused much merriment. The other parts were well taken by Mrs. G. A. Allen as the wife of Deacon Jones, Mrs. Josie Gary as Mrs. Smith, and Grace Howard as a missionary worker.

The financial results were gratifying over thirty dollars being received.

High School News

From now on the school news will be edited by Virginia Mixer, assisted by the members of the Senior class.

Tuesday evening, November 21, the Norway High boys were out for basket ball practice, this being the sixth time. The team is progressing rapidly. It is hoped that we will produce a fast and clean team this year. The readers must remember that the team is made up of new men for the members of last year's team were graduated, except for Captain P. Klain and Evirs. The line up for Tuesday night was: Evirs l. f.; D. Klain, Hunt, Fletcher r. f.; Lebroke c; Descoteau l. g.; Capt. P. Klain r. g.

The girls of Norway High School have organized a debating club with Katherine Jones, as president.

The boys of Norway High School have reorganized the Boys' Debating Club with Leslie Gibson, as president.

The comedy "An Engaging Position" was presented at the Universalist church, South Paris, Thursday evening, November 16.

The High School Orchestra has been reorganized under the direction of Miss McCreery.

The meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association will be held this Thursday evening, Nov. 23, at the High school building instead of on Friday as usual. The speaker of the evening will be Helen M. Penney of Augusta. A large attendance is hoped for.

Charles Hoffman of Philadelphia, the son-in-law of E. B. Morrison, is in town this week in the interests of shoe business. It is rumored that he intends to enter the Norway Shoe Company if satisfactory arrangements can be made.

The Parish Club was pleasantly entertained Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. George W. Holmes at their home on lower Main street. All but four members of the club were present. After the business meeting, a social evening was enjoyed with games. Refreshments of assorted home made candy, peanuts, sherbet and fancy crackers were served.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS

Will the Advertiser's correspondents please send in their items one day earlier next week, as Thursday is Thanksgiving and the paper will be issued Wednesday, one day earlier than usual. Please bear this in mind and have news on hand a day earlier. Don't forget.

Oxford Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, conferred the crusaders degree on three candidates, Wednesday evening.

Edgar Dunn shot a deer with four points Monday. He first saw the animal back of the barn at his home on Pike's Hill, and as he had put away his gun for the winter, he went to the house to get it and load it, and on his return to the barn, the deer had disappeared, but he was easily tracked in the snow, and after quite a chase he was able to get near enough to fire, and brought him down. He weighed nearly two hundred pounds.

Frank Beck started the carpenters on his postoffice block this week. They have the first floor well along and will continue on this two story block until the weather calls a halt.

Mrs. H. L. Nichols of Norway is the guest of the Misses Clara and Grace Lord Academy street, Hallowell.

The Teacher Training Course

There are now fourteen in number who have joined the Teacher Training Class, besides several visitors each time.

Some of the topics discussed are "The Purpose of the Sunday School" and "The Test of Effective Teaching."

The one supreme end of the Sunday School is the development and training of boys and girls and men and women in Christian character and service. We are taught now that the mind of the child is not a blank upon which we are to write what we wish. We cannot choose what to us seems valuable and impose it upon the child. If we would aid in the development of a child, we must realize that the child is a living, self acting being and we must bring within his reach what his life needs, what it will take within itself, assimilate and grow upon.

The child lives one life and he should be taught according to the highest conception of life and living in both public school and Sunday school. The teaching should be brought into each mutual relation that the child cannot tell where one begins and the other leaves off.

The parents, the Sunday School teachers and the public school teachers are all responsible for the every day life which boys and girls are living. Let us not blame ourselves as teachers and see if we are studying the best means and reach the heart of the boy and girl. Are we giving them something worth while to do to take the place of the unworthy things which they are doing?

A good Sunday School teacher knows what her pupils are doing every day in the week and makes them feel her interest.

Every class of boys and girls over sixteen should be taking the Teacher Training work in the Sunday School, preparing themselves to substitute as teachers in the school.

As we are told now, new teachers should be chosen between the ages of sixteen and twenty-two, because they are more willing to study and adopt new methods as the world progresses.

Teachers cannot be successful till they can understand and sympathize with boys and girls. The real teacher says: "Give me the worst boys and girls in the Sunday school and let me see what I can make out of them. There is shown the real desire for service. It would pay every Sunday School to put Wade Crawford Barclay's book into the hands of every Sunday School teacher who has not provided himself or herself with one.

Everyone is welcome to attend these classes, no outside preparation is necessary. When the Sunday School teachers say they have no time to put on this work how can they expect their pupils to spend any time on their lessons? Example is very potent.

Boy Committed to the State School

Truant officer, Harry D. Cole of South Paris, brought Raymond Cash of South Paris before Judge Wm. F. Jones in the Norway Municipal Court Thursday morning for habitual truancy. Superintendent Merlin C. Joy of South Paris testified as to the facts of the younster's delinquency and other matters concerning the lad's habits. After considering the testimony, the court committed him to the State School for Boys.

Mrs. O. J. Coffin of Milan is visiting her sister, Mrs. Alfred P. Chandler, at Round Pond.

There was a corn shelling contest which several young ladies were in and Geraldine McAllister won the box of chocolates. In the bean contest were four girls from 20 up to 74, box of chocolates was won by Ethel Lovejoy, and the booby prize of one cent, Mrs. Nora Abbott. The children then had the bean contest and Helen Lord got the chocolates, and Philip Lord won the booby prize of one cent. A few games were played followed by dancing. Everyone reported a fine time. They are to have an oyster supper with a good entertainment in two weeks from that date, Dec. 1st.

Thanksgiving Day

Governor Curtis in his proclamation designating November 30 as Thanksgiving day suggested that the people of Maine "observe the day by congregating in their accustomed places of worship and giving thanks to Almighty God for the peace and prosperity that prevails throughout our land and for all other blessings bestowed upon us in this time of almost world-wide strife and suffering."

Record of the Past

No Stronger Evidence Can Be Had in Norway

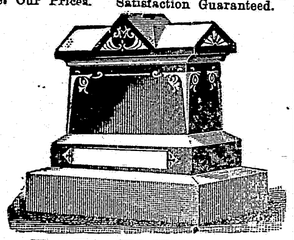

Look well to their record. What they have done many times in years gone by is the best guarantee of future results. Anyone with a bad back; any reader suffering from urinary troubles, from kidney ills, should find comforting words in the following statement.

C. E. Bradford, prop. of laundry, Main St., Norway, says: "Sometimes I had a dull pain through the small of my back, together with a tired feeling. I couldn't rest well. When a friend advised me to take Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at F. P. Stone's Drug Store. After I used two boxes, the pains and other symptoms disappeared and there was a great improvement in every way. I have had no trouble since." (Statement given April 30, 1912.)

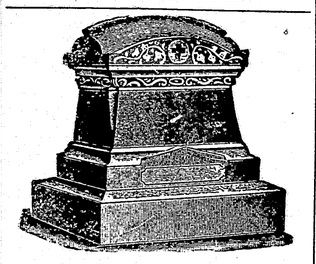

On June 6, 1916, Mr. Bradford added: "I retain my confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills, as it hasn't been necessary for me to use a kidney medicine since I took them." 47-48.

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Bradford has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y

HOW TO FIGHT HIGH PRICES

A speedy return to the old-fashioned market basket will effect a sharp reduction in the high cost of household commodities, according to Charles F. Southard, instructor in salesmanship in the Brooklyn night school. Mr. Southard was born on a farm, went to the city in his youth to enter the produce business and later became an advertising man.

He has followed the newspaper articles on market conditions with interest, and believes that solution of the vexing problem of reducing the cost of table necessities lies in the rejuvenation of the market basket.

"We need more than anything else to popularize the discarded market basket or its equivalent," Mr. Southard said. "If a woman wants a package of matches costing 5 cents, she goes to the telephone, spends 5 cents for the call and causes the grocer to spend more money for a boy to take it to her door.

"Another important factor is the endless wrappings which envelope goods today. Formerly a woman stowed her purchases into a roomy basket and walked home with them. Now each article must be wrapped and bound with twine, and hence the cost to the ultimate consumer goes skyward.

"I have applied for a stand in the Washington Market, and expect to get permission from the superintendent of public markets to deliver a short talk each afternoon on the value of a return to the market basket. I shall go into the butter and egg business, getting my supplies from farmers by way of the parcel post and selling with just enough profit to make the investment worth while."

Mrs. Tarbox of Fryeburg May Become National Head Ladies G. A. R.

The following item is taken from the Bugle Call, the official organ of the Ladies of the G. A. R., published at Easton, Pa., October 1916:

"Acting under the wishes of her many friends, Mrs. Mary E. Tarbox of Fryeburg is hereby announced as candidate for the office of National president, the election of which will be held at the next National convention Ladies of G. A. R.

"Mrs. Tarbox has served her own circle in all its several offices, has twice been elected president of her department of Maine and has had experience in the National body, both on the council of administration and as senior vice president, besides having filled several appointive offices. Maine esteems her as a valuable officer and helpful member and therefore asks that she is given the support needed to secure the high office which we would like to see her gain and asks all sisters give her name and ability consideration."

There seems to be no doubt about the election of Mrs. Tarbox as the next president of the National body, her act in withdrawing her name from the contest at the last convention, in favor of a soldier's widow, winning for her the approval and strong friendship of the entire convention.

A New Fad

One hundred and fifty envelopes containing ashes of Joseph Hillstrom, or "Joe Hill," as he usually signed himself, were distributed to as many delegates to the tenth annual convention of the Industrial Workers of the World, which opened in Chicago, Friday.

This surely is some new fad to be remembering one's friends with one's ashes after cremation. Who would want our ashes scattered over the house, tucked away in some old box or bureau draw for the small folks of the family to get into and "blow" over things or as the story goes, to "use for toothpowder" by mistake. Far better that they be kept together and placed in an urn or some other appropriate receptacle and placed in a repository for the like or else sent to the four winds.

There s more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Favor Lending Postal Savings Money To Build Model Homes

Congress will be urged to pass legislation whereby money on deposit in the postal savings banks may be loaned to municipalities for the purpose of building model homes for its citizens in accordance with a resolution unanimously adopted by the American Federation of Labor convention. An alternative suggestion contained in the resolution, is that the Government shall establish such a system of credits that people may borrow for a long term of years at a low rate of interest, to build their own homes. All state federations of labor and organized labor everwhere were urged in an adopted resolution to make the injunction question the paramount issue in their future political activity until a law was operative in every state that will "protect rights and liberties of all citizens so far as the illegal, unconstitutional and unwarranted use and abuse of the writ of injunction is concerned in trade disputes."

Canada May Build Great War Memorial Highway

A Canadian transcontinental highway, copied after the Lincoln Highway, has been proposed as a fitting memorial of Canada's part in the great war, according to the December Popular Mechanics Magazine. The suggestion has come from the Military Hospitals Commission and has been forwarded to the government in the form of a resolution. This document points out that such a public work would offer employment for the large number of unskilled soldiers who will be suddenly thrown out of employment at the close of the war.

I have been trying for several years to get the Maine Pomological society to give up the show and hold a sale, open an apple mart every fall," said Maj. E. E. Philbrook, ex-State entomologist and orchard specialist. "Let the fruit raisers ship their fruit and sell by sample in large or small quantities, bringing the commission agents and dispose of the whole crop or such part as they wanted to sell at a sale such as that. It would net the raisers more money, give consumers a chance to buy in small lots and bring producers and consumers closer together."

A Rumor

A rumor is current that the shoe company who have been operating at Mechanic Falls for the past two years or more are to move to Biddeford, where they are said to be building a new factory just across the railroad from the Hodsdon Manufacturing Co.

The object of the proposed move is said to be for the purpose of increasing the capacity of their business. Since coming here the company have done a good business, employing from 50 to 75 hands and helping out the business in the town considerably. Besides the headquarters of the concern at Salem, Mass., they are operating a factory at Skowhegan and one at Richmond.

Have You Made a Will?

Do you realize that if you do not dispose of your property by will your estate may be disposed of by law very differently from the way you would wish? The law respecting estates for which no will has been made, can of course take no account of the special personal needs of each beneficiary.

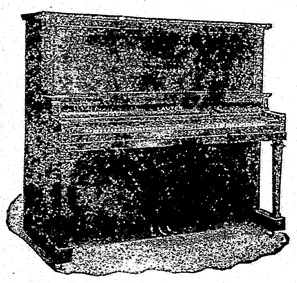

Perhaps one of your heirs may not be well qualified to care for his property, and it should be placed in trust for him; or, perhaps circumstances may make it advisable that one heir should receive a larger share than the others; or, that the property should be given to him in a different form from that given to others. But, unless a will is made, each heir must share the property in accordance with the rigid requirements of the law.

When you make your will, why not assure efficient and economical management of your estate by appointing The Norway National Bank of Norway, Maine, as executor and trustee? The Bank has all the essential qualifications of a competent trustee, including assured existence throughout generations of beneficiaries. It has many qualifications which no individual trustee can possess. Moreover, the cost of its service is no greater than that of an individual trustee.

Young and old can testify to the effectiveness of Dr. King's New Discovery for coughs and colds. Buy a bottle to-day at your Druggist, 50c.

SOUTH PARIS

Gored by Angry Deer

John F. Stanley, superintendent of the Lake Auburn Fish Hatchery, received painful but not serious injuries from the horns and hoofs of an angry deer.

The deer—a big buck—was supposed to be a pet. It was kept in a pen near the hatchery, and it didn't distain the choice morsels which people in the vicinity were constantly offering. But a wicked glint in the small eyes spelled danger for those who were too companionable.

Mr. Stanley, who was accustomed to feed the deer, entered the pen Sunday morning at 7 o'clock. The animal turned on him. There was a bellow of rage that sounded almost human, a wicked jab of sharp horns—and Mr. Stanley emerged from the pen, blood flowing from several wounds. He was at once given medical attention and no serious results are feared.

Stearns-Lowell

Austin Partridge Stearns, jr., of Paris and Ida Mabel Lowell of South Paris were united in marriage at 8 o'clock, Wednesday evening, by Rev. C. G. Miller, at Mr. Miller's home. The double ring service was used.

The bride was gowned in white crepe de chene with shadow lace trimming, and wore a handsome hat of white silk and black velvet trimmed with white maribou.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry I. Lowell who moved from Bolster's Mills to South Paris about five years ago. She graduated from Paris high school in the class of 1915, and is a member of Mt. Pleasant Rebekah Lodge.

Mr. Stearns is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin P. Stearns of Paris Hill. He graduated from Paris high school in the class of 1913. He is a member of Mt. Mica Lodge, I. O. O. F., Mt. Pleasant Rebekah Lodge and is lecturer in Paris Grange.

Gifts of silver, cut glass and linen were received. Mr. and Mrs. Stearns will reside in their own home, recently purchased and remodelled, about two miles from Paris Hill.

Has Received Her Certificate

Hazel Gerry, daughter of Mrs. Mary P. Gerry of Eugene, Ore., has been given a certificate from the Women's National Service school that was held at Vancouver, Washington, in September. It is signed by President Woodrow Wilson, by William H. Taft, chairman of the central committee and by Jane A. DeLano, chairman of the National committee on nursing service. She received 94 per cent. in her examination, which was based upon a knowledge of elementary hygiene and home care of the sick. Miss Gerry was the youngest student enrolled this year at Vancouver and was the only one enrolled in the school, who had had previous experience at military marching, which combined with commercial and elementary hygiene training. Her father, the late Alba Gerry, was for many years a druggist at South Paris. When she was three months old she was cared for by her aunt, Mrs. Annie Swift at Paris, with whom she lived through her childhood.

Thanksgiving Concert

The Thanksgiving concert held Sunday afternoon in the Congregational church was largely attended and enjoyed and a fine program offered. This is an annual event presented for a worthy object, therefore, considerable effort is made to assemble a list of local artists who are sure to please. A collection of twenty-three dollars was taken to be used to fill "Thanksgiving baskets" for unfortunate families in the village. The program follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. Millett entertained a party at rook, Friday evening, when five tables were filled.

Paris Grange met November 18 at 10:30 with a goodly number of patrons from both Pleasant Pond and Hebron Granges as they had been invited to come and spend the day with Paris Grange and greet the Lecturer of Maine State Grange. After a bountiful dinner the following program was carried out: selection by the Kitchen orchestra of Paris Grange with an encore, which was under the leadership of Sister Kate Hammond; remarks by Bro. Farrar of Pleasant Pond Grange, also by Bro. Arthur George and Bro. Keen of Hebron Grange; two tableaux by members of Paris Grange; reading, Clara Ryerson, encore; Song, Lullaby, Sister Hammond; address, State Lecturer; selection by Kitchen orchestra. Annual meeting for reports of committees and election of officers will be held December 2 at 10:30 a. m.

Mrs. Rizpah Whitman, Mrs. Walter Jones and Samuel L. Davis started for a winter sojourn in California.

Mrs. Clarence Ridlon and Alice Penley of West Paris were the recent guests of their sister, Mrs. Ernest Herrick.

Irving Barrows resigned his position with the Paris Trust Co., and will be associated with his father, Oscar Barrows, in the lumber business. Mr. Barrows has been employed with the company for several years where he has gained a wide acquaintance. Harold Briggs takes his place.

Harold Neal, a traveling salesman for the Mason Mfg. Co. entertained twelve couples Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Jacobs. The invitations were novel indeed and read thus, "You are invited to go on a blind run on Thursday evening, leaving Howard's Drug Store at 7:45 o'clock. Be sure and be there." At the appointed time the guests assembled and followed a string through the principal streets to their destination. Four tables of rook were made up after which dainty refreshments were served. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Green, Mr. and Mrs. Herman E. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Barrows, Merton Bolster, Ruth Bolster, Merton Clifford, Bertha Wight, Nora Dunham, Pearl Bennett.

Fred Wight returned Friday from a hunting expedition at Gilead, near Tumble Down Dick Mountain. He brought home a deer and a doe that weighed 118 pounds.

Mrs. Albert D. Park has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Ella S. Heald of East Sumner.

J. H. Stuart is at his camp in the town of Blanchard, where he will meet his sons, H. H. Stuart of Augusta and W. E. Stuart of Freeport.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark B. Richardson were at Redding to attend the funeral of Mrs. Richardson's brother, Clifton Rowe, who was mistaken for a deer while hunting, and shot by his brother, Merton M. Rowe.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Butts were called to Kingfield November 16 by the death of Mr. Butt's father, Philander Butts of that town. Death came suddenly although he had been slightly ill for a few days, but his condition was not considered serious. He leaves a widow and several children.

Mrs. O. E. Barrows left Saturday morning for Pelham, N. H., to visit her daughter, Mrs. M. V. McAllister. She will remain until after Thanksgiving and Mr. Barrows will go later.

Notices have been posted at the Paris Manufacturing Co's. that a bonus will be paid to their employees who have been at work for 275 days during the year. Five per cent. of their total wage will be paid to those who have been there one year, six per cent. for two years' labor and seven per cent. to workers who have been with the company five or more years.

Saves Boy from Worms

Mrs. Jennie Bowen of Meredith, N. H., writes this kind of letter: "You have helped my little boy. He would have been in his grave before long."

Some symptoms of worms are: Deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itch of the nose, itching of the rectum, short, dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep slow fever.

If you have the least suspicion that your child is troubled with stomach worms or pinworms, put him on the road to good health by using Dr. True's Elixir, the family Laxative and Worm Expeller. This remedy has been on the market for over 60 years. No better laxative made for young or old. At all dealers'. 35c, 50c and $1.00. Advice free.

FELL FROM LOFT; HURT; THEN WELL

How a Man Who Landed On Wood Pile And Was Sore From Head to Foot Found Quick Relief.

Once upon a time Edwin Putnam, who lives in the quiet, pretty hamlet of Wendel Depot, Mass., climbed up into a loft to get some building material, just as many another man living in the country must often do. Suddenly he slipped and fell. Ten feet below was a pile of wood, knotted and gnarled. It was a nasty tumble, and Mr. Putnam was injured painfully in the back, he was covered with bruises, and was sore from head to foot.

The next day he bought a bottle of Sloan's Liniment which had been recommended to him. Within a very few hours the soreness had vanished and the lameness had disappeared. He was an active man once more.

Sloan's Liniment can be obtained at all drug stores, 25c., 50c. and $1.00.

BIG BARN DOOR SKETCHES

Purely Personal and Mostly About Myself and Early Career.

In the language of the late Simeon Drake, just as we go to press, this week, the continued story announced to appear in this department, has been crowded out by more important matters. It will appear later.—Editor.

Don Seitz sends me "The Jersey Skeeter." He surely did it. Color of ink and hand writing belongs to the Business Manager of the N. Y. World. He can't deny it.

"The Skeeter" bears a big, bold picture of this ruthless admirer of Buccaneers, News and Journalism.

Am pleased to be remembered even with such wicked stuff as Lena Genster writes and pins on him. It shows I'm not forgotten.

Mr. Seitz keeps alive his acquaintance with the Mrs. by sending Christmas confectionery and complimentary copies of the books he throws together, such as: "Surface Japan," "Pirate-Songs," "Discoveries in Europe," "Elba and Elsewhere." The Mrs. is very choice of them and when not loaned to neighbors, they occupy a conspicuous place in the house. I'm allowed to look them over and wonder how he gets time to do such things.

"The Skeeter" however, was sent to me and is not to be loaned or stolen. It shows Don in the position of star performer, at the right hand of the Toast Master with 24 others facing empty plates. Neither knives, forks or glasses are seen. It's a barren feast! The kind the late General Beal calls a "Terrible Affair." I know it and shudder! No, I'll not lend this paper. It speaks of cocktails, molasses and———, well, hen-raising. It would be misunderstood as was the recital of Mr. Seitz's buccaneer poems in the Opera House a few years ago, when one of the admiring listeners shouted:

"It's a lie; an infernal lie, Don Seitz never wrote that stuff!"

That is why I'm not to let his friends here see the paper. No, not even Hugh Pendexter or Talbot Mundy can see it, and they too are liberal minded ink-spillers! It would cast a shadow over the literary glory and social standing now enjoyed by Seitz in this community.

Let's see, Don Seitz left Norway some years ago to make room for me. Two men in the same business, in a small town rarely get on well together. He knew it so jockeyed his possessions in the highest market. I got the local list of the True Religion, an oil can and a contract in which both he and his father, Rev. J. A. Seitz, agreed not to molest me for ten years.

The time specified has run out and he now can send "The Jersey Skeeter" and his essay on James Abbott McNeil Whistler with impunity. There remains no redress or come back under that contract.

I gaze with awe on the Skeeter picture and wonder what would have become of me, and mine had this big-necked, strong-jawed, pompadoured, literary mule-teamer stayed and contested the location with me in those early days. He didn't, thank Heaven!

The game afield was too small for him and he struck out for himself—the universe to conquer and a living to get.

North Conway, N. H. was the scene of operation and the White Mountain News, the implement. A few months sufficed and the bones of that venture along with the old Adams' Power Printing Press, went "ableaching in the classic shades of eternal snows" as far as Seitz was concerned.

He struck the dusty trail for Holyoke, Springfield and Boston. He worked in those towns and wrote letters about them that were printed in the Advertiser and read with interest.

He didn't write the Columbus (Ohio) letter which convulsed the citizens and come near dumping our modest office in the mill pond. He had nothing to do with it. He was at a distance and I near at hand so I let Seitz father that truthful work of art as a measure of self-protection.

This is the first public announcement setting him right in the community. It's been long delayed and I now beg his forgiveness. He didn't do it! I did it.

One morning Seitz, with his clothes on, rolled out of a boat bunk and landed on a North River pier. He was alone in the city of New York. Without friends or work and with little money—$2.10, I think, but he was filled with courage and curiosity.

Somewhere over in Brooklyn lived the son of a minister, who at one time was pastor of the Universalist Church in Norway, the same as his father (Rev. J. A. Seitz) had been, and if he got into real distress he might induce him to listen to his s. o. s. signals. It was a cheering thought. This man was Herbert Gunnerson, treasurer of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle establishment and it was only natural for Seitz to call there in his quest for work, but he did not make himself known.

He applied for employment and was promptly told they had all the help needed. Somehow, somebody peeked through the gilded loop-hole grating and asked what he could do. He said he was an all round printer and wanted work—he didn't say this meekly as that wasn't his way—but told it as though he was master of the situation.

"It was possible" said the obliging man, "that Jerry might have something in the job department down stairs. The speaking tube answered back that Jerry's needs were well supplied. Seitz asked and got permission to go down stairs and look the job printing office over. It was granted. He descended the stairs and wound around in the dingy labyrinth of dirt, ink and machinery in the basement where job printing was done.

The foreman talked and showed him about a bit and inquired if he was the printer who had applied upstairs for work. He was told he was. A few questions were asked as to where he learned his trade and when he wanted to go to work.

"Now," was the prompt reply.

"Hang your coat and hat up there and go to feeding that press" pointing with a finger.

This Seitz did.

When lunch time came, Jerry, the foreman, handed him a $2.00 bill saying:

"Here is something for your dinner. Boys, tramps and new arrivals always come broke."

It was accepted, as only 50 cents of borrowed money jingled in his pockets at the time.

Getting him to the big city took the united cash reserve of three of his Boston friends—six dollars.

He won't deny it. He can't, and be truthful, and that is why his paper announced the landslide for Hughes the Wednesday morning after the election.

Strict obedience to the truth and correct it afterwards, if necessary. That's the newspaper slogan! And that is my excuse for writing this story. It might not have come just at this time and sidetracked a continued article which was scheduled to appear this week if Seitz had not pursued me with that blazing, buzzing, lying Jersey Skeeter, which shows him at a recent Newark Ad Club Banquet and put words in his mouth he never said.

The truth impels me to set him right and do it promptly and I make bold in saying when Jerry took Seitz into the job department of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle establishment, all he had was youth, energy, self-assurance, good looks and a clean pocket handkerchief.

I don't care what Lena Genster says of the acquired rights to "the one and only" paper stretcher in existance.

Don kept his fingers out of the Gordon press and run the sheets through even though it was propelled by something more than foot power. He could "kick a press," make up and reduce ink as well as cast glue and molasses rollers. Sim Drake had taught him this and many other useful things in the Advertiser office.

He soon sent his name to the City Editor and asked for special assignments at reporting. Occasionally an evening job of this kind fell to him and he handed in the copy in the morning when he went to his day's work in the basement.

Sim Drake, printer, Norway, Me., gave him his first lessons in reporting and he caught onto it amazingly and dressed his local items up in fantastic garments that pleased reader as well as the city editor, and special minor assignments came often and with them came good money which helped him pay his debts.

One day late in the afternoon when the ink was working badly and the form was off its feet, word was magaphoned to Jerry asking if he wouldn't send Seitz up stairs to the City Editor's desk.

Jerry delivered it with evident pleasure and said:

"You go right up and see what they want."

Don washed the ink off his hands, combed his pompadour with his fingers and shined his boots with the towel and was about to leave when Jerry said:

"If they have any good job to hand out to you up there you take it; if not, you come back here and get the devil out of that press and the job off."

"But, can you get on without me here?" inquired Seitz.

Here, is the key note of Don's success regardless of what the Skeeter may have to say: His positive assurance that he was absolutely needed wherever he was placed. That's the whole of it.

"Sure, we can come to time on these ——— labels" was Jerry's reply.

Don didn't tumble to it at the time, but he did later that Jerry kept him there out of the kindness of his heart, rather than with regard to the profit of the establishment.

The city editor said: "Beecher is going to die and the man we've assigned to cover it has fell down and can you do it?"

There was no evasive, doubting, half-hearted "I will try" that's not Seitz's way, he simply said, "Yes, sir."

"Then get busy, space unlimited, get the whole of it."

Nothing was easier for Seitz to do than this. He was familiar with the history of the great preacher and Plymouth Church and the Tilton-Beecher scandal,—boy as he was, this assignment fitted him the best of any that could have been made.

It was an all night's job and the good parson saw fit to die just at the proper time so the Eagle made "a grand scoop" that carried him onto the list of regular reporters.

That's how it was done.

He never returned to the basement to finish up that label job, though he often met Jerry and had pleasant chats with him.

Years after Jerry became a wreck and outcast, Seitz put him onto the World and kept him there and made up payroll deficiencies out of his personal funds.

Jerry was pointed out to me when being shown through this great plant by Mr. Seitz, who said:

"There's the man that gave me my first job over in Brooklyn, and he'll have work here, drunk or sober, so long as he lives and I have any control in affairs here."

It's said Seitz was the only mourner who followed Jerry to the grave and it was common knowledge that he paid the funeral expenses. And why not?

As a reporter he handled the Brooklyn Bridge news and approaches—or "home news" wherever found. Don had spare time in the morning and instead of wasting it in social clubs and rum shops, he went through the papers in the city editor room and one day suggested to this personage that he could help him out in blue penciling copy if he wanted him to.

The offered assistance was accepted and the pile of manuscript found on his desk each morning grew bigger and bigger as the days went on. Seitz did the reporting job at the Bridge and became assistant city editor as well, drawing only a reporter's pay.

The city editor was a sick man and as his health faded out, he depended more and more on Seitz, who did not disappoint him, but seemed perfectly willing to do two men's work and draw the salary of one.

The city editor finally gave up the work and remained at home and Seitz expected to get the position, as he had applied for it many weeks before, but somebody had a favorite or a pull with the management and a new man was sent to fill the desk.

Seitz dropped out and attended strictly to news getting. The paper came out on time, but the work of the new city editor was shockingly mixed and jumbled and not up to standard.

On the morning of the third day the managing office sent for him and said:

"I see you have applied for the position of city editor."

"Yes" was the reply.

"Can you do it?"

"Yes, sir," was the prompt and decisive answer.

"Then for God's sake get onto the job and go to work."

This is the simple story of how Don C. Seitz got his start on a big paper in a big city.

The Jersey Skeeter Ad Club knows nothing about it and probably cares less, yet I wish to thank them for calling my attention to it.

Truth first and at all times even if you have to correct it in the next edition. That's a winner. Please let this go along with it thundering down the ages:

It was self-assurance, determination, ability and willingness to work, coupled with horse-sense and Sim Drake's country printing office training in the Norway (Me.) Advertiser that won Seitz his success.

First evidence I have seen of knocking out high cost of living has failed. Ed Burnell has had printed two dollar orders for the coming K. of P. Thanksgiving Ball.

When this was known such a hue and cry followed as to compel a change to the usual fancy folders with silk cord and tassel costing five or six times more than the orders already printed.

There you have it! The public demand luxuries and howl over the high cost of living, attend the movies three times a week and ride in autos on Sunday!

Thin ice period is here. Who will be the victims, See announcements later.

Frank Noyes groans over the advanced costs of woven silk labels from $7.50 per thousand to $15.00 but when his daughter wants to ride he cheerfully pays $10 for the use of an automobile for a few hours. Think of it!

A ten-cent straw hat is not popular, but I noticed many Panamas were worn last summer.

Silk and satin takes the place of calico.

The net public debt of the U. S. is $1,008,120,468.32. Daniel Webster once offered to pay the National Debt out of his personal funds but didn't do it. The debt was then smaller and Daniel was generous! This was before the high cost of living got busy in the country.

EAST OTISFIELD

Mrs. Lucy Huff of Portland has been the guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frost, the past week.

Harry Dyer, who has been working for Lewis Bean for the past 8 months, has hired out with the Kemp Brothers for a while.

Charles Frost of South Framingham, Mass., has been visiting relatives in Norway; also his brother, Frank Frost, of East Otisfield.

Mrs. John Edwards of Portland was the guest of her brother-in-law, George Edwards, and wife from Thursday until Monday.

Danforth Winship lost a horse, Thursday.

There will be a meeting at Winfield Reed's next Saturday night, Nov. 25th. All are cordially invited to come.

Fred Fortier and wife were week end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fortier.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bean, while going to Oxford Saturday, met with an accident. When going down Keith's Hill the seat came off the pung, tipping them both out. Mr. Bean struck on his shoulder, dislocating it, also cutting quite a gash in his forehead. Mrs. Bean was not hurt much; the horse ran and cleared himself from the pung. Dr. Farris and another doctor from Norway set his shoulder.

There have been seven deer shot in this place in the past ten days. The lucky ones are Edwin Morey, Horatio Peaco, Harry Stone, Frank Frost; also Norman Edwards, Henry Edwards and Frank Morse of Casco.

BRYANT'S POND

J. S. Smith, Jr., and J. R. Jenkins, who have been staying at the Hall cottage since April, returned Monday to Paterson, N. J.

The Ladies' Social Union will give their first entertainment for the winter at the Universalist church on Friday evening, Nov. 24, at 8 o'clock. The program will consist of music and readings.

Sidney Ferguson, who has been living for several months in the house on the Paris road formerly owned by Mrs. Abbie Russell, has moved with his family to Massachusetts.

Winfield Noyes and Arthur Dow are spending the week at the Grafton camps.

A party of ten from this village attended the celebration at South Paris and Norway Friday evening.

Mrs. Frank Bartlett whose home was recently burned in Washington, was for several years a resident of our village.

Franklin Grange

ON MURDER CHARGE

George Gallant of New Brunswick was brought to Rumford Saturday and arraigned in the Municipal court on the charge of murder. It was alleged that he was responsible for the death of Joseph Leonard, who Friday morning was found dead in his bunk in the lumber camp of White and Partelle at Ten Degree Siding above Houghton.

The case was continued for one week and in the meantime the stomach and heart will be examined at Bowdoin Medical school. The medical examiner had not determined the cause of death.

Gallent is about 30, and Leonard had an altercation while drinking Thursday night, according to those at the camp, and Leonard was put into his bunk. He was said to have been alive at that time.

THE NEW MUSIC ROOMS

(By Mrs. Z. L. Merchant)

"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast."—Congreve.
And Mr. Freeland Howe is doing his best
To keep us all in a civilized state
By playing his music early and late.
Go to his music rooms some day
And all his records, for you, he'll play.
The great Harry Lauder will sing for you
And you'll laugh and cry till he is through;
Enraptured you'll sit on the edge of your chair
While the Peerless Melba is warbling an air;
You must hear Caruso, O that matchless voice!
Then hear Scotti sing and make your choice—
If you buy their records, you'll want many more
Of singers who are famous the wide world o'er.
Just a few dollars, think how cheap,
And the songs you buy you can always keep.
If you went to New York to hear them sing
The price you'd pay would ransom a king.
A very big sum they would demand
And very likely you'd have to stand.
But right here in Norway, every day,
You can hear them sing and nothing to pay;
For Mr. Howe with courtly grace
Invites everybody into his place.

I have the usual large and well selected stock of Victor and Columbia Talking Machines and records. Think of the pleasure you can get and give with a phonograph this winter.

Boating On Sebago Lake

Dear Editor:

An item in last paper announcing the decease of Capt. James E. Kennard of Portland at 88 years of age, states "he was the first man to take a canal boat through the Cumberland and Oxford Canal, and the first man to pilot a steamer across Sebago Lake." These statements are both very inconsistent with the facts of history of the C. & O. Canal and of the piloting of the steamer "Fawn" across the Sebago on her first trip in 1847.

A leading article in the Centennial History of Harrison on Lake Transportation in Early Days, written by Alphonzo Moulton, principal compiler and editor of the book, states: "The canal was opened to the public in 1829 and the first craft to pass through was a pleasure boat known as the "George Washington" which was built and owned by Wm. A. Rice of Portland. The first freight boat to go through the canal was the "Columbus," built and owned by Kennard of Great Falls. This was certainly not our Capt. James Kennard, because in 1829 he was a year old baby and no canal-boat "skipper."

When the first steamer—the Fawn—made her first trip across Sebago to her old landing in 1847, Capt. Kennard was but a youth of 19 years, and could not have had much experience as a lake pilot; besides, the man appointed to command the steamer was Capt. Christopher C. W. Sampson, of Harrison, an owner and manager of canal boats for many years and a pilot of much skill and experience on all the lakes in that chain. But Capt. James E. Kennard, in mature life was for many years a noted canal boatman and commander, and was master of several lake steamers in the later years of steam navigation before the Goodridge ownership of the Sebago navigation business.—G. F. South Waterford.

COTTAGE STUDIO NOTES

(Watch this Column)

Norway, Nov. 1.

Of course you want some portrait work for Christmas. This month is the best time for sittings, besides you can save a little money because all photo materials cost us more, making it necessary to advance our portrait prices Dec. 4.

We are making a new size for only $1.00 per dozen this month.

Have you thought this about your Christmas plans, that your friends can buy anything you can give them—except your photograph?

You do not have to trust a valued picture to an agent when you want a crayon or water color portrait.

We can serve you perfectly in any kind of copy from old pictures—or from new.

Our old customers will be glad to know that Harry Lasselle is again at the studio after serving in the second regiment on the border.

DIXFIELD

Dixfield Guild exhibition was held at the chapel, Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock p. m., and an entertainment of old time songs and folklore was given in the evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. The young ladies in charge were dressed in antiquated costumes and escorted all visitors to the various departments of interesting and curious collections gathered from various sources for this occasion. Refreshments were served by dames of "ye olden time," and all taking part in the evening's entertainment were dressed in striking costumes.

The young Peoples Endeavor Society met at the chapel Sunday evening for their usual weekly meeting. John Johnson acted as leader of the meeting, topic, "Christianity the Hope of Our Country." Dr. W. M. Pease gave an interesting talk on "View points on religion by the medical fraternity," which was greatly appreciated by all. Scripture readings and quotations from noted men on the subject, given by various members made the meeting of much interest to the large number in attendance. A very able and helpful discourse was given by the pastor, Rev. R. E. Gilkey at the forenoon service. The Sunday school was well attended. Committees were appointted to make plans for a Christmas entertainment.

Mrs. Lillian Babb is caring for Mrs. Lizzie Turner at Mrs. Turner's home near the center of the town. Mrs. Turner has been in feeble health for some length of time.

Mrs. Delphina Root and sister, Mrs. Emily Knight left Tuesday for Boston, where they will remain for an extended visit at the home of Mrs. Root's son, Albert Root and family.

James G. Fogg of South Hartford was a week-end guest at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Olie Paine. Mrs. Fogg, who has been visiting her daughter the past two weeks, was taken ill Saturday night and is confined to her bed, although more comfortable.

Mrs. G. C. Frost is on the sick list. Her little daughter, who has been seriously ill is slowly improving.

Edith Marsh of Farmington, who accompanied the remains of her mother, Mrs. Lydia Marsh here for burial, remained in town for a few days, a guest at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Clara Howe.

RUMFORD.

Clarence Campbell, a man around 45 years old, was shot and fatally wounded in the woods at Frye last Wednesday forenoon. He was mistaken for a deer. Harry Marston of Mexico was the young man who fired the fatal shot. He leaves a widow and two children, the oldest being 10 years old.

Osgood Eaton W. R. C. has presented to the town a large flag which will be floated from the top of the new municipal building.

Mrs. William Lee entertained the St. Margaret Guild of the St. Barnabas Episcopal Church last Tuesday afternoon. Refreshments were served.

Edna Lord is visiting friends in Lewiston and Portland.

Beulah Douglass who has employment in the post card mill in Washington, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Lewis Dowling.

There was a good attendance at the assembly hall of Stephen High School Friday evening, where Dr. Frank B. Tubbs, professor of geology at Bates College, delivered his lecture on the European War.

Rev. and Mrs. Foshay of the Baptist Church were in Boston last week to attend the Billy Sunday meetings.

Mrs. Ralph T. Parker entertained the Ladies' Aid of the M. E. Church at her home on Penobscot street Tuesday afternoon. Lunch was served.

The Death of Mrs. Maria Saunders Kilbourne in her Eightieth Year.

The death of Mrs. Maria Saunders Kilbourne, wife of W. W. Kilbourne, occurred at her home at Chelmsford, Mass. November 12, after an illness of but a week of pneumonia. She was in her 80th year and was a native of Waterford, Maine. She was a member of, and a constant attendant at the Central Congregational church, and for many years had been actively interested in the work of the various societies connected with the church. Besides her husband she leaves two daughters, Lillian W. and Katherine E. Kilbourne, and a sister, Miss Elizabeth S. Saunders, all of Chelmsford.

The funeral was held from her home in the Littleton road, Chelmsford, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. Edward A. Robinson, pastor of the Congregational church, Chelmsford, and Rev. Ernest C. Bartlett, pastor of the Dracut Center Congregational church. The bearers were Messrs. Edward H. Fleming, J. Arthur Chadbourne, Amos T. Saunders and Howard Russell.

Burial was in the family lot in Forefathers' cemetery at Chelmsford. The funeral arrangements were in charge of William H. Hall, under the direction of Undertaker George W. Healey.

RESCRIPT FROM LAW COURT

Thomas M. Stevens, collector vs. Dixfield and Peru Bridge Co. In an action of debt brought by the Collector of the town of Mexico against a toll bridge corporation to recover the tax upon that portion of the bridge property situated in said town and assessed as real estate, it is held:

1. That under R. S. ch. 9, sec. 14, the stock of toll bridge corporations must be taxed as personal property to the owners thereof.

2. That the enactment upon which this section is based is sec. 2 of chap. 187 of the Pub. Laws of 1846, which provided that no part of the general tax act of 1845 "shall be deemed to authorize or require the taxing of toll bridges as real estate in the towns where the same are situated, but the stock in such bridges shall be taxed as personal property to the several owners in the towns where such owners reside."

3. That to tax the capital stock to the owners and the property itself to the corporation would be, in effect, double taxation which is contrary to legislative policy.

4. That the tax in question was unauthorized, and cannot be collected. Kittery v. Portsmouth Bridge, 78, Maine, 93, is over-ruled.

Judgement for defendant.

WATERFORD

Mrs. Columbia B. Millett

Mrs. Columbia Bisbee Millett, widow of Levi Millett, departed this life Wednesday, Nov. 8, at the home of her son Addison on Plummer Hill.

Mrs. Millett was born in this town Sept. 16, 1836, being the daughter of Captain Luther and Mary Wardwell Bisbee and resided in the town nearly all her life. Although the feebleness of advancing years was upon her, she was not called upon to bear the pain of lingering disease, passing away with little warning, apoplexy being the cause of death.

With a very peaceful expression upon the countenance, she lay surrounded by floral gifts when the relatives and friends gathered on Friday morning to pay their last tribute.

Rev. G. W. Sias officiated at the service. Interment was made in the Bisbee-town cemetery.

Mrs. Millett is survived by two brothers, Byron Bisbee of Auburn and Winslow Bisbee of East Waterford, four children, Addison of Waterford, Mary Ella, wife of Alphonzo Charles of North Waterford and Llewellyn and Frank of Waterford and a goodly number of grandchildren and great grandchildren.

F. H. Morse and son Wilson were in attendance upon the meeting of the Maine Pomological Society in Portland last week.

Mrs. F. H. Morse attended the funeral of a relative in Massachusetts last week.

E. B. Pike and son are the possessors of a cow that produced twin calves last week. They are well formed, hale and hearty.

Mable Gage leaves this week for her winter home in Nordhoff, Cal.

Frank Morgan and Ed Coye are hunting in Greenwood.

The F. B. R. Class of the Sunday School meet with Mrs. Tyler Wednesday afternoon.

Plummer Hill

Herbert Whitcomb and wife visited at Lawrence Marston's Sunday.

L. Millett, wife and daughter Lillian spent the day with Dennis Gardner and family Sunday. Harold Millett, wife and baby, and Wilson Richards were also guests at the same place.

Ernest Wentworth came up home Saturday night, returning to his work Sunday.

Will Goodwin, wife and son Clinton called on Lulu Wentworth Sunday evening.

Helen Stevens visited her sister, Frances Grover, and family Sunday.

Arthur Millett and Ernest Grover were out hunting Friday, all day, and at night Arthur returned home with a nice buck deer.

Lila Millett and baby, also Marion Millett, visited their friend, Elizabeth Millett, one-day the first of the week.

FRYEBURG

Rev. Joshua M. Frost, district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church, has been visiting the churches of the denomination in Conway, N. H., and Fryeburg.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hubbard, who have been the guests of their son, Harry Hubbard, of Portland, have returned to their home in Fryeburg. Their little grandson accompanied them.

A Men's Club has recently been organized in connection with the First Congregational Church to assist in the work of the church. The officers are as follows: President, Charles E. Fox; vice president, Dr. Norman C. Thurlow; secretary, Francis D. Swan; treasurer, Dr. Arthur J. Lougee. A meeting of the club is to be held each month.

The ladies of the First Congregational Church held one of their popular suppers on Thursday evening, Nov. 16.

The Democrats of Fryeburg and vicinity celebrated the election of Woodrow Wilson to the Presidency for a second time, on Thursday evening, Nov. 16, with a very large gathering at the Knights of Pythias Hall. The principal speakers were Dr. Seth C. Gordon of Portland, Hon. Albion A. Perry of Fryeburg. A free lunch was served to those in attendance; red fire was burned and some of the people illuminated their homes. Flags were also displayed. The recent snow storm and the severe cold weather prevented any parades or other open air celebration.

Mrs. Everett Shaw, who has been receiving medical treatment in Portland, has returned home improved in health.

The Fryeburg Boy Scouts now have enrolled in their ranks 30 members. A basket ball team is soon to be organized by the Scouts.

EAST SWEDEN.

Perley Brown is boarding at A. H. Smart's while hunting and trapping.

Mr. Towne and Mr. Chadbourne of Sebago have finished packing the apples in this neighborhood. They are packing for C. E. Fitch of Sebago. The price is $1.75 for No. 1 and No. 2 delivered at North Bridgton station.

Clarence Flint and Earl Marr got a nine point buck deer one day last week.

Raymond Kneeland is cutting wood for O. H. Haskell.

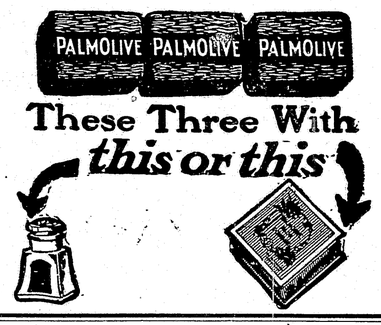

H. H. Bisbee's team hauled the apples from this place to the station for the different parties.

Lots of deer hunters since snow came, but not many deer have been reported as dead in this section.

"WEDDING BELLS"

McKeen-Howe

One of the pleasure events of the season was the wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Howe, which took place at their new home, in North Norway, on Saturday evening, Nov. 11.

A dance was given for the pleasure of the many guests. Mr. and Mrs. Howe led the march of about 30 couple.

The bride was becomingly attired in a dress of light blue Crepe de Chene, with blue satin and bead trimmings, while the groom wore a suit of dark blue, which was very becoming.

After a treat of candy, peanuts and cigars was served the merry company indulged in dancing until a late hour. Then they thought it best to wish the happy couple a long life of pleasures and prosperity, and returned to their own homes.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Raymond Basil Swan of Greenwood and Gladys Alice Frost of Norway.

Percy E. Murch and Sarah Josephine Dean, both of South Paris.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Whereas, death has claimed his own in taking from Fryeburg Grange, Sister Emily Furbish, therefore be it,

Resolved, that while we mourn for our sister who has been taken from our circle, we can but realize that she has passed that dark portal through which we all must pass.

Resolved, that the sincere sympathy of the members of this Grange be extended to the family and friends.

Resolved, that our charter be draped in mourning for thirty days, and that these resolutions be spread upon our records, a copy sent to the family, also to the Norway Advertiser for publication.

GERTRUDE SHAW,
MARTHA BINFORD,
CLARA HASTINGS.

PURITY AND POWER

Necessary to Overcome Impure and Weak Condition of the Blood.

The grip, hard colds, pneumonia, fevers, diphtheria and other blood-poisoning, prostrating diseases leave the whole system subnormal—below par—weak and slow—blood depleted and thin, with that tired feeling, poor appetite, delicate digestive power or almost none at all.

The ideal treatment is Hood's Sarsaparilla—thoroughly to purify the blood and expel poisons, and Peptiron Pills, the new pepsin, nux and iron tonic—to put power into the blood, give strength, increase red corpuscles and restore normal health-tone.

Hood's Sarsaparilla has in forty years won and held the favor of the people, almost to the exclusion of other sarsaparillas and blood purifiers.

Begin a course of medicine today. Any druggist will supply you.

The Spot That Hurts

Many of the most intense body pains are of local origin and can be quickly relieved and overcome by a single application of Minard's liniment. It is best for sore, strained, lame muscles, stiff neck, lumbago, sciatica, rheumatic pains, backache, stiff joints, tired, aching, burning, itching feet, and sprains. It gives instant healing relief; is creamy, antiseptic, free from injurious drugs and stainless to flesh and clothing. Surely try this wonderful liniment and see how quickly it brings soothing relief. It never disappoints. Get a bottle today.

BETHEL

Sunday was observed as Temperance day at the Universalist church. Rev. J. H. Little delivered an eloquent sermon. The Y. P. C. U. meeting was led by E. C. Park, leader. The program included music; brief address by leader; reading of selections by members of the Y. P. C. U. The program of the prohibition movement was illustrated by 19 of the Sunday school scholars. As the list of states was called, the pupils took their places on the platform, holding high their banners with name of state they represented, Maine leading the list. Then four little children took their places holding high the names of the states voting dry at the last election, while the audience sang America. A vocal solo by Beatrice Keniston, singing of Y. P. C. U. State of Maine song, reading, "The Crusade of Crime," J. S. Hutchins and remarks by the pastor completed the program.

Mrs. Edna A. Stowell

The body of Mrs. Edna A., wife of Martin Stowell, who died at her home in Scarboro after a brief illness of pneumonia, was brought to Bethel, Saturday and a brief service was held at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Fred Holt.

Mrs. Stowell was born in Albany, 69 years ago, the daughter of the late Isaac and Harriet Edwards-Coombs. She was brought up as one of their own in the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Brown of Mason and married Martin Stowell of Bethel and became the mother of several children.

The family resided in town till about five years ago when they moved to Scarboro to a home provided by their only daughter, Mrs. Inez Allen. Two sons, Elmer and Arthur, accompanied the body of their mother to Bethel. Mr. Stowell being in feeble health and the daughter in a critical condition in the hospital. Rev. J. H. Little officiated. Burial was made in the Steammill cemetery.

Mrs. Amy Perry Bean

The body of Mrs. Amy Esther Perry Bean was brought to Bethel Friday from Harvard, Mass. Brief services were held at Garland chapel, Saturday, in charge of Rev. W. C. Curtis. Mrs. Bean was a former resident of Bethel. She was born in town, the daughter of the late Amasa and Sarah Twitchell Bean.

Her age was 81 years and her death was caused by weakness of old age. She died at the home of her sister at Harvard, Mass., with whom she had made her home for several years. Burial was in her family lot at Riverside cemetery.

Machia-Cross

A pretty home wedding took place Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cross when their daughter Florence was united in marriage to N. Charles Machia of Barre, Vt.

The bridal party took their places under an arch of evergreen to the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. Sylvia Conroy, a classmate of Mrs. Machia.

The Rev. T. C. Chapman officiated and the single ring service was used. The bride was given away by her father. The bridesmaid was Gladys Spearrin. Eddie Cross, brother of the bride, was best man.

The bride's dress was white silk net over light blue taffeta. The bridesmaid's dress was light pink crepe de chene with lace and satin trimmings. The bride's traveling dress was dark blue with hat to match.

After the ceremony a short reception was given relatives and intimate friends. Ice cream was served and the couple took the late train for a month's stay in Vermont.

Mrs. Machia was a graduate of Gould's Academy, class of 1910, since then she has been a successful teacher in town.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Cooney of Brooklyn, N. Y., came by auto Friday. The latter part of their journey was rather difficult on account of the deep snow. They remained here for a few days.

The Business Men's Club met Wednesday evening. The speakers of the evening were Mr. Pollard, who is spending the winter here; Prof. Hanscom also gave some interesting readings.

Mrs. Harlan Bartlett and daughter Bertha of Hanover spent the day Friday in town.

Leslie Coburn and Gordon Allen have been hunting in Newry.

Mrs. Ralph Young spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Freeborn Bean, at East Bethel.

Mrs. Augusta Pratt of Auburn spent Sunday with her brother, E. P. Lyon, and family.

Gard Goddard is having a vacation from W. E. Bosserman's store and is visiting at Plymouth, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Upton have returned from Portland. While there, they attended the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Gould.

MILTON PLANTATION

Edgar Davis and Francis Lapham have gone to Pittsburg, N. H., where they have work for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson and son Wilbur are here at their home for a few days.

Freeman Morse, Bradley Stevens and Harry Billings have been to the South Arm for a two days' hunting trip. Each one brought home a large deer.

Mrs. D. C. Swett is at home for a few days.

Mrs. J. S. Brown has been called to Hamlin's Gore by the illness of her son's wife, Mrs. A. A. Brown.

School will close at the village Friday, Nov. 24, for one week's vacation.

Edna Brown is home from Bryant's Pond on account of illness.

THE WIND UPON PIKE'S HILL.

The snow is softly falling,
The ground is covered white,
The trees out in the orchard
Are a most wonderful sight.

But to me it is a mystery,
Why always on Pike's Hill,
The wind is always blowing
And I guess it always will.

Why it seems to me that always,
Even on a summer day,
When the fields are white with daisies
And the men are making hay,

The wind is always blowing!
Oh! it is a dreadful shame.
It blew the hay off from the load,
Then blew it back again.

Why only just the other day
All was quiet as a mouse,
When it blew so hard it blew away
The cellar from under our house.

Uncle Nate was sound asleep,
And it woke him up you bet,
But the saucy wind now truly,
Hasn't returned out cellar yet.

—Lillian Bartlett Richards.

YOUR BOY

This is a good time to think of your boy. If you do not look after him in the right way, someone will do it in the wrong way. Begin now! Teach your boy to follow in the footsteps of his father, to respect the law, to obey his parents, to regard the rights of all men, to honor virtue, to respect womanhood, and to depend upon no one but himself for his advancement, advises Leslie's Magazine.

Teach him that the Golden Rule of life will be found in the Ten Commandments. They are short. They have survived the ages. They stand today unchanged and unchallenged.

They comprise the first great written law given by God to man. Before these few commandments, all man-made laws fade into insignificance. Teach them to your boy. There is danger ahead if you do not.

The universal drift of mankind is toward decadence. Heredity pays its premium and also exacts its discount. The son of a good father and an affectionate mother, brought up in an atmosphere of parental regard, never will disgrace the family.

The boys of today are to be the men of tomorrow. The destinies of the American people are to be in the hands of their sons. If the boys are taught respect for the law, both human and divine, obedience to authority, manly independence and the fear of God, this great nation will be a noble monument to man's capacity for self-government and self-control at a time when all the world is a seething cauldron of unrest, unreason and disbelief.

Teach your boy to rule, but first to rule himself.

Why does corn pop? We shell a small quantity into the popper and shake it over the fire and it is soon transformed into a mass of snow-white crispy starch. That is the story in a nut-shell as you might say, for Nature has filled a grain of popcorn with tightly packed starch grains. The interior of the grain is divided into a large number of cells, each of which may be likened to a tin box, the walls of which are sufficiently strong to withstand considerable pressure from within. Upon the application of heat the moisture present in each little box is converted into steam that finally escapes by explosion. The grain of corn thus literally turns itself inside out.

It took but a moment to switch from Indian summer to sleety, snowy winter.

THE IMPORTANCE OF FORESTS IN MAINE

The growing importance of our forests and the need of a wise and consecutive policy of State management and protection therof call for a radical legislative act to change our present governmental administration. It is therefore proposed to abolish the offices of State land agent and forest commissioner, and in their stead to have appointed by the Governor and Council a commission of lands and forests, composed of three men, one to serve three years, one for two years and one for one year, and new appointments to be made thereafter for terms of three years.

This will give a commission on which at least two members will have served two or three years, so that the policies of management and direction can be consecutive, and so that the upsets of politics will not affect the general principles of wise administration. In some states the members of commissions kindred to such as is proposed serve without compensation, although they are allowed legitimate expenses incurred in the carrying out of their work; in other states each member of the commission is paid a salary.

Under the Commission of Lands and Forests, which will act as a board of directors and final authority, must be a business manager or executive, who will actually carry out the forest policy of the State. Therefore it is proposed that the commission appoint a State forester, to serve during its pleasure, at a reasonable salary. The State forester, provided he renders satisfactory service, would naturally be kept from year to year, and will be altogether outside the environs of politics. It is the function to execute the decisions of the commission, and to have general charge of the State's forest policy, of the State land, over nurseries and reforestation projects, over the State fire protection system, and over the educational and scientific researches of the State. His office will be at Augusta, and he will be the active head of the State timber land service.

Under the State forester's supervision will come the forestry work of the University of Maine, the sales, permits and surveys of State lands, and the purchase and management of forest reserves, should the State ever take a hand toward obtaining such. Reforestation measures will also come under the same jurisdiction.

Finally, and most importantly, the whole State forest fire protective system will be under the commission and the State forester. The forester will appoint chief wardens for the various divisions of the state; under these wardens will come the patrols and lookout men. A thorough and definite system of trails, observation stations, telephone lines, fire lines, tool and supply caches will carefully and gradually be worked out, and men will be kept in the service irrespective of political affiliations, providing only they are conscientious and efficient. By employing the same men over the same territory for consecutive years greater value will be rendered for every dollar spent.

Of course a system as here proposed presupposes an adequate office force at Augusta, where headquarters for the commission and for the State forester will be located and where information can be catalogued, maps and data filed, accounting and costs taken care of, inquiries answered and a permanent executive be always present.—Portland Express.

WRAPPING PAPER ECONOMY.

One of the commonest things in daily life is a piece of wrapping paper. It is torn off the package which it envelops and is thrown away, wasted. So accustomed have the people of today become to paper bags and wrappers that they no longer consider them as items of value. Yet in the aggregate the paper bill of a store is one of the heaviest factors of expense. The customer, of course, pays that bill, just as he pays the rent and coal and light bills, the clerks' hire, the cost of goods and the cost of delivery. It all goes in the charge on the item that is sold over the counter or sent home by wagon or messenger.

The greater part of the paper wrapping done in the stores today is needless. Goods already boxed or covered are carefully done up in paper before being delivered. It looks neater thus, and conceals the identity of the article. Storekeepers and managers follow this practice because customers demand or expect it. It has become a custom of trade to send out nothing that is unwrapped. The result is an enormous waste of paper and boxes made of paper, which, going into the bills and charges, adds heavily to the cost of living.

An increasing percentage of goods vended at retail come in cartons or containers. Articles of food are thus prepared as a measure of cleanliness. Articles of wear are boxed or wrapped at the factory as a matter of neatness and facility of handling. At the stores these goods could be delivered directly to the consumers by hand or by delivery without wrapping, with no deterioration or risk. Every ounce of paper used in covering them represents an absolute waste.

Most of the wrapping paper used in this Country is made of sulphate, a form of wood stock treated with chemicals that in large measure comes from abroad. The war in Europe has curtailed this stock and caused a heavy increase in the price of "kraft," as this sort of paper is styled in the trade. Consequently, the paper bills of retailers have advanced heavily during the past two years, and, as already stated, this advance has gone into the general account and has been paid by the consumer.

It is to the interest of every individual who buys goods to demand economies at the stores, to ask that goods already boxed be not wrapped, or that in the wrapping cheaper grades of paper be used. If everybody in Washington would adopt this attitude and make it known to the retailers from whom they buy that they prefer their purchases to be delivered with a view to economy, the total cost of buying in this city would fall appreciably.—Washington Star.

Winter Underwear

This is the time of year when 80% or more of the men, young men and boys lay aside their light-weight underwear and buy new for the cold and rugged winter, which is bound to come.

For that reason we are placing before you several brands of underwear that you cannot afford to let miss your vision.

Two-piece suits from 50c a garment up to $1.50, from heavy pure wool down to just plain cotton.

One of the most popular garments in the underwear line is the METROPOLITAN Union Suit. They are really delightful by comparison with the ordinary kinds.

They are made on lines just like a tailored suit; the armholes and shoulders are right, it fits the figure without being stretched into shape. Their finishes have a personally selected look. They are made on spring-needle machines and after being laundered return to their former shape.

Metropolitan Union Suits are $1.00 in cotton, $1.50 in one-third wool, $2.00 in one-half wool, and more. They come in all sizes.

NORWAY AND VICINITY.

Frances Watson of North Waterford has been visiting Mrs. Lillian Bisbee and other Norway friends.

Mrs. Luella Warren of Rochester, N. H., is very ill. She has been at the Eagle hospital in Rochester, but is now at her home there.

Mrs. Charles G. Blake has returned from Harrison, where she visited her brother, Herbert B. Dennison.

George Bonnerman and Charles Bradford started Friday after deer up Wild River with headquarters at Hastings. Charles returned Monday, but George will remain until early in December as cook for several parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Danforth closed their summer home November 15 and started for a winter sojourn at Southern Pines, N. C. Mr. Danforth is the oldest member of the set that gather yearly, and is considered the "grand old man" of the big winter family. They stop en route at Mattapoisett and Southbridge, Mass., to visit Mrs. Danforth's sister, Mrs. Phiney Allen and brother, Rev. Chas. R. Tenney.

Lou Cushman and Lewis Buswell cleaned out the Republican headquarters Thursday afternoon. A desk, chairs and cordwood were dumped disrespectfully onto a sled and hauled away to some attic, there to rest in peace for four more years. This act of vandalism would not have been noticed if Lou had buried the sign under the load, and not stuck the handle into a barrel where all could read the inscription as he paraded around Advertiser square.

The Kare Free Klub was entertained at the Beals Tavern, Thursday evening by Louise Seavey and Louise Sheldon. Sewing occupied the members until the call was given for all to assemble in the dining room, where hot chocolate, fancy crackers, cookies and ice cream were served. Plans are being made for a gentlemen's night in the near future.

Mrs. Mary Cross of Oxford has been canvassing the village for personal assistance. She worked particularly among the French people, but would accept small sums from any person willing to sign the subscription paper.

Harold Thomas was the first skater to try the ice above the corn shop. He went on the bog Friday and found it frozen about two inches.

Jack of the Airedale family and now a member of the Advertiser force, is carrying about a daub of red paint on his face. While the Democratic celebration posters were being run off, Jack was in the composing room visiting. In a way not exactly clear he connected with the brilliant hue, and has since sedately walked about, unconscious of this emblem of a Wilson victory.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Smith are in Fairhaven, Mass., visiting their daughter and other relatives.

Mrs. W. H. Warren, who is living with Mr. and Mrs. George Brooks, has been seriously ill. Her son, Ambrose Warren of Boston was called here, but returned home as her condition commenced to improve.

The Harry Rust W. R. C., No. 45, held their regular meeting in Woodman hall, Thursday evening. A large attendance was encouraging to the officers and members, who are working for the good of the order.

Lester V. Ashton, Ray H. Eastman and Urshal Gammon were in Mason recently trying for game. No real deer were brought back, but their friends are being entertained by exciting stories of a chase wherein every victim escaped or fell prey to other parties.

Prof. George A. Yeaton of Norway was re-elected president of the Maine Pomological society. The treasurer is T. E. Chase of Buckfield, executive committee, F. H. Morse, Waterford and W. H. Conant, Buckfield.

NORWAY MUNICIPAL COURT.

Wm. F. Jones, Judge.

Merton M. Rowe of Sumner was brought before the court Saturday afternoon by Deputy John A. Titus, charged with causing the death of his brother, Clifton Rowe, fifteen years old, while hunting near Redding, November 15. He pleaded not guilty and bail was set at $1,000 for his appearance at the March term of Supreme Judicial Court. Albert D. Park, South Paris and Oscar E. Turner of Hartford were the sureties and he was discharged. Alton C. Wheeler appeared for the defendant.

Mr. Rowe is a neat appearing young man of thirty, has a wife and two children and occupies a small farm near the scene of the unfortunate affair. He is R. F. D. carrier for East Sumner and has an excellent reputation.

A Norway Lady's Comment on Billy Sunday

"Billy Sunday is certainly a facinating speaker" is the comment of Mrs. Herman L. Horne, who had the pleasure of attending two meetings in Boston last week.

Mrs. Horne had been visiting in East Weymouth, Mass., so upon the urgent invitation of friends decided to hear the great baseball evangelist. Partly out of curiosity to see the preacher and also to hear the much advertised chorus with its renowned leader, she mingled with the good natured crowd that stormed the big tabernacle, occupying every seat to the number of twenty thousand. The individuals in that big throng were not run in the same mold, for the rich and the poor, the just and unjust mingling with social cast forgotten and color and creed cast aside. The paramont question was "Can I find a seat?"

The setting for the religious drama is unique. A large building resembling from the outside a three ring circus tent, inside are board seats and fine shavings or sawdust forming a warm carpet over the sod floor. Heat from several large coal stoves in the rear of this tabernacle gave cheer and comfort, but as the auditorium becomes crowded, ventilators in the roof are opened so no fires are then needed.

All of the meetings are opened with a song service. Four thousand voices respond in a volume of music, the effects being beyond description. Only two grand pianos are used simultaneously as an accompaniment, except when "Rodey" plays the trombone for a musical feature. Mrs. Horne was enthusiastic while speaking of "Rodey" who was christened Homer Rodeheaver, when an infant. She said, "He is a splendid man, musician and director, with a winning personality. When he steps before that finely drilled chorus an inspiration is given to each voice, that carries to the vast congregation a message, which prepares the way for Mr. Sunday."

A collection is taken directly after the singing, but we must let Mrs. Horne explain the way it is done." The first seat (or the one nearest an isle) in every seventh row is marked by a large star on the back, this means that it is reserved for an usher. When the time comes for the offering, each one takes the bright tin pan that hangs on the seat back and passes it along. Back and forth it goes from one end of the line to the other, until each collector has covered his section of seven rows. Then the pans are carried forward in regular order, and emptied into coal hods or something of the like. So systematically has this been arranged that only two minutes are required for the work."

In describing Billy Sunday she states that "Whatever prejudice I might have had soon disappeared as Mr. Sunday warmed up to his subject. The theme was 'Jacob and Esau' and his impersonations were wonderful. The characters were deleniated faithfully with no effect at comedy, and his earnestness throughout the discourse would banish any thought one might have of his insincerity." Billy is no idler while expounding his views against sin as Mrs. Horne can testify. "Mr. Sunday is constantly in motion and walking continually about the platform, taking on many characters, pounding the pulpit or chair, being much alive. His control of that audience is wonderful. A story will cause a volumn of mirth, and by a mere twist at the right time, when the vast building is very quiet, he forces tears to the eyes of thousands who are foreign to those emotions. For all of Mr. Sunday's slang, he is winning souls in his own particular way, and with this great work of his uppermost in mind, can overlook what seems crude, after hearing the message and coming under the influence of the genuine Christian personality."

A dance was given in the Opera House Friday evening after the speech making. A large number attended and danced to the music of Milliken's orchestra.

Joe Wood and A. P. Marvin were digging for a sewer Saturday on Bridge street. They found eight inches of frost which has gathered since the first snow fall. Wedges and a heavy sledge hammer were used to start the earth before a pick could be used.

Relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Hayes of Holebrook, Mass., have received the good word that a little daughter entered their home Sunday, November 5. This is their first child and the parents are receiving congratulations.

Guy A. Buck returned Saturday from a hunting trip in North Woodstock with a hundred pound doe. Guy has followed the chase each November for several years and this is his first deer.

Doris and Clara Shepard of Auburn were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Packard.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Farnum of Woodstock were the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Elmer Aldrich, Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Omitt Robbins, 81 years old, who lives with her sister, Mrs. Jackson Clark, on Bridge street, fell on the sidewalk Saturday opposite the house and sustained a fracture of her ankle. So serious was the case considered by the attending physician, that the patient was taken to Lewiston at once by Elon L. Brown in his auto and the fracture reduced at the Central Maine General Hospital. The ankle was put in a cast Sunday and favorable reports concerning her condition have been received.

Mr. and Mrs. Arba H. Trufant, Dr. L. H. Trufant's parents, gave an informal reception to their friends on Wednesday evening at their home in Auburn. The affair was in honor of their golden wedding anniversary.

C. C. Hussey of Auburn had a bad fall the other day and sprung three ribs badly. He is now out again but walking with a cane. Mr. Hussey has left the Togus Home where he has been located much of the time for the past few years.

Oxford County Gem Cutters

Robert F. Bickford, the gem merchant and his brother, Knox Bickford, the cutter, are becoming well known throughout the country as their order books give positive proof.

Their local business is flourishing, for many sales in this and nearby towns show, especially during the few weeks preceding Christmas. But the foreign trade, as we may term it, is the point in question. This week they have stock in the rough on their benches, received from far off states that must be cut and polished at once, and H. Knox can be found working steadily to change the common looking stones into a thing of beauty.

In the assortment are rare quartz from Massachusetts; kunzite from Erie, Penn.; emeralds whose native bed is near Spruce Pine, N. C.; chalcedony from Red Cloud, Neb. and the beautiful turquois sent way up in Maine from El Paso, Texas. They have recently finished work sent in from Canada, British Columbia and from the far away Panama Canal zone.

We are informed that their regular customers represent forty-three states. The expert handling and converting the rough stock into valuable gems must prove satisfactory, for these young men are carrying names on their list of patrons that have been there for several years.

Mr. Bickford has received an invitation from the Maine Club of New York City to place a state gem exhibit, when they observe Maine Day early in December. Those composing the club are from the Pine Tree State so have an annual show to present to their "less fortunate" friends the products of their home land. The boys are pleased with this acknowledgement of their skill.

The Norway Knitting Company are busy filling orders received from their New York agent. Eighteen people are employed, and they turn out one hundred dozen pairs of hose each day, their capacity being one hundred and twenty. Lack of dye stuff cramped the firm during their first year, but this has been overcome so they can place with the jobbers all the goods the factory can produce.

Carlton Young is working after school hours in Clinton J. Masseck's store.

Mrs. Ada Gerry is visiting her daughter, Thelma Gerry, who is teaching in Springvale.

Clinton S. Masseck has been holding an anniversary sale this week. He opened his store to the public one year ago Monday, and has developed the small beginning to a business of no mean proportion.

The sills were laid for the Norway postoffice building Monday and the work goes merrily forward in spite of the lateness of the season.

The Browning Reading Club met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Grace Cushman, Marston street. The program included the roll call, current events; reading, The Eleventh Hour in the Life of Julia Ward Howe. (Howe) Mrs. Cushman and Mrs. Nora Keene.

The group of camp fire girls under the guardianship of Miss Goldrup, will be known as the Wazeemanawee Camp, which means "odor of pines." They met Wednesday evening, the 15th, with Marion Downing and the next meeting will be a social gathering Saturday, Nov. 25 at the home of Ruth Marston at Norway Lake.

Mrs. Henry H. Hastings of Bethel was the guest of Mrs. George P. Locke while Mr. Hastings attended Probate court at South Paris Tuesday.

Percy Nevers, Jr., and Harold Drake were in Auburn from Friday until Sunday night visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Drake on Fern street. Young Percy visited many interesting places in the twin cities.

The degree was conferred on one candidate at the regular meeting of the Pythian Sisters Tuesday evening. Refreshments were served after the work.

Several flags caught fire in the upper rooms at John Sampson's during the Democratic parade Friday evening. Roland Andrews first discovered the blaze, and with "Dud" Dunham and others, rushed in and had it smothered before any serious damage had been done.

Mrs. C. A. Richardson was in Auburn Monday for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Chandler were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Chandler Tuesday and Wednesday. They are on the way to their home in Bethel, after a trip to Yarmouthville where they visited their daughter, Mrs. W. Arthur Bunting, and at Auburn to see another daughter, Mrs. Fred P. Chandler. Mr. Chandler is the oldest man in Bethel, being 87 next February, but active for his years.

Sam Estes has finished work for Wm. C. Leavitt and began work Monday morning in Portland. Mr. Estes has been employed at the Leavitt store for several years past.

John McKay returned Tuesday from a hunting trip in the vicinity of East Stoneham and brought with him a good sized buck.

Omar Chase, a true blue Republican, was conspicuous in the Wilson parade with his broom beautifully decorated with the national colors. He was not alone, for there were other tried and true wager losers of the same school. Sim Harriman and Fred Cummings bravely did their "bit" and all three names go down on the pages of local history for future generations to review, when we "hark back" thiryt-four or fifty years hence.

A fast High school basket ball team is in the making. Ten players have been selected from a large field and daily practice should fit the boys to meet any combination in their class. The schedule is not yet completed, but their first regular game wil be played with Gould Academy at Bethel early in December, after which dates will come thick and fast.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hathaway were in Mechanic Falls, Thursday to visit Mrs. Hathaway's sister, Mrs. Frank R. Harmon, Mr. Harmon being in the Togus hospital for treatment. Word was received Tuesday of his sudden death which came as a shock to the family as his condition was not considered serious. The deceased lived in Mechanic Falls being prominent in Grand Army circles and a prominent Mason.

A meeting of the High school mandolin club was held in the school building Tuesday evening and was well attended. The new four part music was distributed so guitars and banjos were used for the first time.

Dr. Geo. M. Whibley has bought a house in Portland, 91 Winter street. He is having the house thoroughly repaired and put in first class shape with modern improvements.

Norway Grange

On Saturday, Nov. 25, Norway Grange will hold an all day meeting. The Grange business to be done in the forenoon, dinner at noon for the grangers, and an open meeting in the afternoon. At this meeting the girls of the Canning Club will exhibit their canned products, and there will be speaking by Miss Mary Haskell, State Leader of Girls' Clubs, and Prof. Yeaton. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance at this afternoon meeting as we are anxious for all to see the nice work done by these young girls.

Mrs. E. J. G. Williams who has been ill for several months, was taken to the Central Maine General Hospital Tuesday for an examination. The case baffled the local physicians and a specialist will endeavor to locate the trouble.

Harry Lasselle resumed his position Wednesday as assistant in the Cottage Studio.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Osier who have been employed in the Carroll, Jellerson Co. factory for several months, are now located at Auburn. Mr. Osier is a treer in the Dingley-Foss new factory and Mrs. Osier has charge of a department in the old factory of the same company.

Herbert F. Andrews started on a trip to Iowa Tuesday evening, but will return for his Thanksgiving dinner in Norway.

Della Noyes is having the Cummings heat put into the Noyes Block.

The Junior Thimble Club meets with Mrs. Eva Kimball Saturday afternoons. The children are sewing for the fair, the second week in December.

George Robbinson moved into the Noyes house, corner of Main and Deering streets, Tuesday.

Pike Hill is a favorite though not altogether safe place to coast. About fifty youngsters with sleds were enjoying the sport Saturday afternoon.

Leon Kimball returned Thursday night with a two hundred pound five point buck. He did his hunting in Upton and stayed at Al Brooks'.

Aubrey E. Pettengill has recovered from his burns and again is able to use his hand as before. Several weeks ago he lighted a coal fire with kerosene, an explosion followed causing severe burns on his right arm nearly to the elbow.

Fred Moore of Portland was in town with his family over Sunday.

Mrs. Herman L. Horne occupied her position as organist in the Congregational church Sunday after an absence of a month visiting relatives in East Weymouth, Mass. She heard Billy Sunday speak on two occasions and was forced to go nearly two hours before the doors were open to secure a favorable position in the line where more than three hundred were assembled to gain an early seat. During the morning service at the suggestion of the pastor, R. J. Bruce, the congregation welcomed her return by rising.

Mrs. Elizabeth Andrews and Nellie Andrews are to have a real old fashioned family gathering Thanksgiving day, with a dinner including all the fixings. The party will include Herbert F. Andrews and family; Eugene E. Andrews and family and Lelia Watson.

George Leighton of Gilead has a big logging job ahead for he recently purchased a string of fourteen horses from the E. E. Andrews stables.

SOUTH PARIS

John Everett and family entertained John Yates and daughter, Alta of Berlin, N. H., over the week-end.

Mrs. J. M. Oliver of Jamaica Plains, Mass., is visiting Rev. and Mrs. C. G. Miller and family.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bowker, Muriel Bowker and Wirt Stanley were called to Auburn, Monday morning because of the serious accident to J. F. Stanley.

A hunting party composed of Chester Records, William L. Bray, Tracy S. Pierce, Harry M. Shaw, Ray Seely, Howard Davis and their driver, Bill Ripley, posed Monday on Tuttles Tally-ho and were photographed by Akers of Norway. Eleven deer shot around Andover Surplus were included in the picture, being nine bucks and two does.

Loann P. Stevens

Loann P. Stevens, aged 81, who has been infirmed for several years, died at the Paris town farm, Saturday. She was the last of the family of Jesse and Abigail Lurvey Stevens, being the sister of the late D. B. Stevens of Lewiston. Woodstock was her birthplace, but she had made Paris her home for many years.

Funeral was held Monday afternoon from the Deering Memorial Methodist church, of which she was a member. Rev. C. I. Spear officiated.

At a meeting of the W. C. T. U. held with Mrs. L. A. Rounds, Tuesday afternoon, the topic, "A World View of Temperance" was discussed. The leaders were Mrs. Rounds and Mrs. Haskell.

Mrs. Etta Bean has returned from dressmaking at Norway and has gone to Hanover.

Mrs. G. N. Sanborn and two daughters of Bethel were over Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Kimball.

John Howe, E. A. Trask and Leslie Curtis each killed a deer the past week.

Mrs. Z. W. Bartlett has had her piazza sheathed, windows and doors put in and fitted up for a sleeping room; also is having her cellar furnace-rebuilt.

SUMNER.

Asa Robins and sons, John and Gene have gone to Kennebago deer hunting.

Lillian Leslie is at work for Mrs. E. A. Doble of West Sumner. Mrs. Doble recently fell and hurt herself so as to need assistance about her work.

Sam Raymond, who has been working at the Haley lumber camps blacksmithing, has finished his job.

Mrs. Arthur Cox is visiting relatives in Norway.

Edward Cox went to Peru and returned Saturday.

W. H. Cox of Peru visited at Edward Cox's and H. W. Davenport's, Monday.

The light snow which came last week and made excellent sleighing, is now a thing of the past.

BRYANT'S POND

E. Wesley Whitman and wife of Norway visited Mr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Bacon recently.

Walter L. Bacon of Auburn spent the past week with relatives here.

A rare and beautiful visitor spent a few hours here one day last week. It was the Evening Grosbeak in all his glory and he stayed here long enough so that most of the bird lovers in town got a good glimpse of him.

Edwin Howe is building a stable at his house recently purchased of J. E. Hathaway.

How About a Board of Trade?

When are we going to have a Board of Trade organized here? When are we going to make a start? Can we afford much longer to be without an organization of this kind to work for the things that are needed here? Bryant's Pond is a good old town, let us work to make it a still better town. Think it over, it is up to us!

Mrs. Clara W. Felt, the widow of the late Granville Felt, passed her 78th birthday, Nov. 20. Her sister, Mrs. Sarah Proctor, spent the day with her; also her friends called during the day. Mrs. Felt received 44 postals; also letters and some presents.

The Ladies' Aid met at the parsonage last Tuesday in an all day meeting, a baked bean dinner was served, with doughnuts and all kinds of pies and coffee. The school teachers and a few friends, to about 25, enjoyed the social hour, and good work was done, for the Aid. The society is getting ready for a sale the first of December.

Mrs. Elizabeth R. Whitman, when going home from meeting, Nov. 12, in looking up at a house, stepped off the sidewalk and fell, striking the side of her forehead on the sidewalk, which made a big bunch and bad color. She was badly shaken up. It was a wonder that it was not worse.

Ernest Brooks and wife will go to housekeeping in their home in the Bryant district, soon.

Emily J. Felt came home from Rumford, Saturday afternoon, where she spent ten days with her children.

Roydon, the eleven year old son of Herman Billings, followed a deer from near H. H. Cushman's over Billings Hill and shot it. Pretty good for a boy.

Ben Billings, Walter Arkett, Harold Gammon and Homer Farnum each got a deer last week, right here in town. Some were on this side of "Buck Hill" and some on the other side of it.

Alvin Lovejoy spent several days in Portland with his son Charles.

Mrs. Elton Dunham shot a deer in Greenwood last week.

The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist church will have their sale of aprons and fancy articles, with a home made candy and food sale on Wednesday, Dec. 6th, at the V. I. S. Hall.

A special meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held Wednesday evening. The school children furnished a very nice program. A small admission was charged, the sum received is to go toward purchasing a flag for the new school building. At the last regular meeting of the Association the following officers were elected:

Pres.—H. L. Horne.
Vice Pres.—Rev. E. H. Stover.
Sec.—Mrs. Leroy Titus.
Treas.—Dr. R. F. Willard.
Educational Com.—N. I. Swan.
School Improvement Com.—J. M. Day.
Social Com.—Mrs. Fred DeShon.
Legislative Com.—G. W. Q. Perham.
Press Com.—Fred Cole.

Jefferson Chapter O. E. S. visited Mt. Zircon Chapter the 10th and conferred the degrees. Purity Chapter of Bethel and Granite Chapter of West Paris were also invited. A delicious supper was served and a very pleasant evening enjoyed by all.

Mrs. J. A. Titus of South Paris and Mrs. Loren Patten of Monmouth visited at L. W. Titus', Saturday.

Several from here attended the democratic celebration at South Paris Friday evening.

Alexina Simpson has returned from a two weeks' vacation in Berlin.

One of the saddest men who ever won an election bet is a Democrat who resides in Nashua. He wagered with a Republican friend on Wilson's election, and when the returns indicated the election of Hughes on Wednesday, he promptly settled his wager by having his head shaved.

"I DON'T SUFFER ANY MORE"

"Feel Like a New Person," says Mrs. Hamilton.

New Castle, Ind.—"From the time I was eleven years old until I was seventeen I suffered each month so I had to be in bed. I had headache, backache and such pains I would cramp double every month. I did not know what it was to be easy a minute. My health was all run down and the doctors did not do me any good. A neighbor told my mother about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it, and now I feel like a new person. I don't suffer any more and I am regular every month."—Mrs. HAZEL HAMILTON, 822 South 15th St.

When a remedy has lived for forty years, steadily growing in popularity and influence, and thousands upon thousands of women declare they owe their health to it, is it not reasonable to believe that it is an article of great merit?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Norway Democrats Rejoicing

Monday evening was the date assigned. The weather and streets were favorable and a large amount of red lights, kerosene oil and gun powder were used. The procession was formed in the square at the junction of Bridge and Water streets and consisted of Norway Cadet Band, citizens with torches, and Norway Drum Corps. The transparencies were numerous bearing legends like these: "What hit the G. O. P.?" "Blaine said you could not do it." I am a Democrat.—D. B. Hill." "Carnegie's millions did not save them." "The Czar and the Robber tax must go." "Portraits of Cleveland and Stevenson."

The procession marched up Water Street, across the bridge to Main street, down Main to the Falls, then back on Main to Paris street, onto Beal street, across Lynn to Main, across Danforth onto Beal, then through Cottage onto Deering and through Crescent street to Pleasant and down Main street across Bride to the starting point.

Many residences were finely decorated and illuminated. Undoubtedly the most extensive illumination was at Hotel de Hamilton. Tar barrels were burned at convenient places. Cannon were fired and dynamite cartridges were exploded The whistle at C. B. Cummings and Sons' factory was sounded and confusion and noise reigned triumphant for some two hours.

C. G. Mason rode in a carriage and carried the big transparency. He was decorated with a large white hat.

South Paris: Capt. F. C. Tribou, a retired sea captain, formerly of Bucksport, will occupy a rent in W. R. Howe's house until spring, when he will take possession of the J. A. Holmes' place, which he bought some time ago.

A sign has been posted on Pike Hill forbidding sliding. It is a good safe move and might avoid serious consequences later. It has to be applied each year.

THE CELEBRATION AT NORWAY AND SOUTH PARIS

The Democratic citizens and Republican sympathizers of Norway, Paris, Bryant's Pond, Bethel and other towns over which the Oxford Bears are supposed to roam, carried the celebration of a Wilson victory to a grand conclusion Friday evening, November 17. The booming of Ed. Rich's cannon, the tooting of horns, stirring band music, plenty of red fire and a monster parade placed the Democrats of the two towns on the political map for their enthusiasm and get there.

With six inches of snow on the ground and more falling, put up a discouraging combination that would have knocked down anything but a political send off. The crowds were there just the same and formed a line nearly a mile long including twelve hundred torch bearers, transparencies, floats, drum corps, automobiles and the Lewiston Brigade Band.

About seven o'clock the procession formed near the depot at South Paris with Theodore Frost, Carroll Bartlett and others mounted to lead the van, then a platoon of young men with colored fire. The Lewiston Brigade Band were next in line, with music a plenty that even falling snow could not quench, following were the enthusiastic torch bearers in squads of four, who trudged along with cheers and shouts as happy as youngsters on a picnic. The parade marched up Western Avenue, around the sled factory to High street, then into the square and onward up Pleasant toward Norway: Many of the residences were brilliantly illuminated and flags formed a conspicuous decoration. Plenty of red fire was burned along the route both on the street and in the automobiles, forming the last division.

Owing to the hard walking, the Norway route was changed somewhat so the big parade entered the village via Paris street, passed down Main toward the Falls, turned onto Fair street up Winter, to Beal, down Marston, then up Main to Whitman passing through Crescent to Pleasant street, thence down Main to the Beals Tavern, where music by the band and a splendid speech wound up the big celebration.

A political gathering of this sort would not be complete without many heart rending caricatures on up to date topics. Illuminated signs were conspicuous. "He's a Winner" and "G. O. P. Died, Nov. 7, 1916," "Kenney is Post-Master" or "DeCoster is still for Norway Office" were a sample. A tremendous crack was made on local office seekers with a coffin in deep mourning bearing the legend "Republican Post Office Boom." Joe King's goat led by his son Mike, displaying the sign "Hughes Goat" made a hit, also Fred Cummings astride a Democratic donkey in the make up of the Hon. W. J. Bryan, drew a big laugh. "Uncle Sam" as personified by Ed. Lever, rode majestically on the top of a tally-ho, where red fire was continually burning. Inside this overland coach rode Byron Tuttle of South Paris, Mr. Libby of Bryant's Pond and Fred L. Edwards, Esq., of Bethel. About fifteen autos with flags and colored illumination added much to the long procession. In them were prominent citizens and their wives, who braved the cold and storm for two hours so as to properly celebrate the victory.

The crowd that assembled before the Beals Tavern for the speech making was large and jubilant. Cheering, horns, and band music were all mingled with the smell of burning oil and powder. Everybody was happy and didn't appear to mind cold feet or other winter conditions. Lewiston Brigade band livened things up while waiting for the crowd to settle. They deserve praise for the faithful discharge of their duty, as they were on the job from the start to finish. By much petting, the horns were kept free from ice and the music continued during the four miles of march.

George L. Sanborn of Norway introduced the speaker, Judge Harry Webber of Auburn, who was received with an ovation. His remarks lasted about twenty minutes and were pithy but considerate, the whole theme being based on "American Citizenship." He said in part that "The re-election of President Wilson is a victory of the common people. It is not a partisian victory but a good citizen movement to advance the highest and best in our beloved country." Continuing, Judge Webber said in substance, "We to-night use 'old glory' as a Democratic party symbol. It is not necessarily so, for the good old flag cannot be the property of any one party, sect or creed, but is owned by every man, woman and child who value true citizenship above all else." The speaker was loudly cheered throughout his address.

The citizens of Norway responded well to the call for decorations. Many dark houses were observed but as the parade passed, a delegation saw to it that a red fire candle was burning near the spot. At the Beals Tavern, F. Robert Seavey had a red, white and blue incandescent display, and the Oxford Electric Company were generous with colored lights in their office. James N. Tubbs had both his house and store well decorated, as did C. A. Richardson. Flags, bunting and colored light effects were tastefully arranged, but no effect was made to spread out, for the sentiment of honor to the President could be expressed just as strongly in this simple manner. Among those who assisted in illuminating were: Stone's Drug Store, Allard and Moulton, Direct Importing Co., John Sampson, "Shorty". Cook's shop, A. L. Clark Drug Co., Norway Commercial Club, Buswell's Boot Shop, Edward J. Burnell, Charles Allen, Stephen Hatch, Robert Bickford, Phil. Bradbury, Dr. Charles I. Fogg, A. E. Pettengill, Frank Hurd, Geo. A. Brooks, C. N. Tubbs, A. L. F. Pike, Timothy Heath, Merritt Welch, Olive Woodsum, Fred Smith, Abbie Jane Tubbs, Jack Ledger, Lieut. C. H. Pike, Clarence L. Decosta, Fred Hosmer, Fred Allen, Lou Cushman, Lee Smith, Verne Rich, Mrs. S. T. Woodsum, W. S. Pierce, Mrs. Etta Norsworthy, Geo. Robertson, Mrs. Horace Cole and many others. The staunch Republicans added their mite to the good cause, Dennis Pike, Wm. C. Leavitt and S. C. Foster. Sim Harriman payed his bet man fashion with a torch, and received no little amount of side line suggestion as he trudged merrily on.

The general committee, who brought this matter to a successful conclusion were Geo. L. Sanborn, F. Robert Seavey, Frank E. DeCoster, William O. Frothingham, Herman Richardson, Giles F. Frost.

Mrs. Samira Dunham, who has been working at Frank Pike's, goes Friday to Mansfield, Mass., where she has a position as housekeeper at Clarence Pike's. She will probably remain there during the winter.

Indian Cemetery Sand in the Norway Streets.

Many years before the first white man built his rough cabin within the present limits of Norway, the Androscoggin Indians, belonging to the great Algonquin tribe, plied their frail canoe up our streams, or skimmed over the placid surface of the "big pond."

No man living to-day can boast of having seen the red skins, nor can they recite hair raising stories of personal encounters with these wild being of the wood: Tradition is helpful in drawing material for an Indian romance, but circumstantial evidence is stronger, as it introduces a collection of material objects, which appeal to the senses, and not wholly imaginative.

Several collectors have for many years accidently stumbled across flint and jasper implements of various sizes that bear the earmarks of Indian origin. These have been picked up along the shore of Lake Pennesseewassee, at Sawyer brook, along the lowlands near the Little Androscoggin river and in various localities. All spear heads and gouges are of good shape, but not well finished, which would indicate either a busy life or low artistic temperament.

Returning to the tradition side of the story, there is evidence from that source that a small tribe had a camp site on the pine clad point near the Little Androscoggin, on the Olcott Brown farm, now owned by Mrs. Horace Cole. Stories passed along over three generations quote that Indians passing up river from the ocean to the large ponds in Greenwood and Woodstock, thence onward to the big Androscoggin, used this neck of land for a resting place, and had a permanent wigwam settlement. This may or may not be true, as no material evidence has yet been discovered on the site to substantiate the statement. The location has been examined carefully and blackened rocks indicating a rude fireplace were found. Also a depression in the ground, with a slight twist of the imagination, could be made to serve as an abandoned storage cellar. An Indian trail winds along the brook to the railroad, then can be found again below the iron bridge, near the highway to West Paris and Paris Hill, thus followed for several miles up stream.

There may be more or less truth in this statement from the obscure past, because of human bones unearthed several years ago in the sand pit, on the same farm, a short distance down stream from the camping place. In 1895 workmen were hauling sand, and found bones which they cast aside, believing them to be the remains of an animal. George L. Noyes an authority in matters of this kind, happened along. Realizing the importance of the discovery, a spade was procured and with the help of Horace Cole, the searchers open more ground in the vicinity. They were rewarded after considerable labor, by bringing to light twelve skeletons, three were of adults and the others probably children or young persons.

Evidences of Indian origin were conclusive. The bones were found about two feet under ground, covered with bark and in the customary position, with remains of a fire over the graves. Several were intact, but some crumbled after being exposed to the air. The skulls, together with the so called long bones of the limbs were in a fair state of preservation and are now in Mr. Noyes' collection at Norway. No arrow or spear heads were found, only one sea shell bead presumably from the necklace of a child, came to light. This condition might indicate extreme poverty, as the early custom demanded an interment of weapons, to be used in the happy hunting ground.

George Noyes, in relating the story of his find said, "Probably more bones are on that point for the place was probably a genuine Indian Cemetery, and will be unearthed later, as the sand is removed." When asked concerning the probable time of the burial, he admitted we had no data yet as he stated, "They might have been the victims of the fever epidemic that run riot through the several tribes two hundred or more years ago."

Thus sand from this cemetery has made our Main street and the cement sidewalks laid during the past summer, but may this fact not trouble the superstitious.

Mrs. W. Frank Cox of Crescent street fell down the stable stairs into the basement recently with serious results. Besides a thorough shaking up she sustained a fracture of several ribs and bruises, but is able to walk about the house and do a little work. The injury is painful but a speedy recovery is hoped for.

The Maine Conference have started a campaign to raise $200,000 toward a general fund of $15,000,000 for pensions to retired ministers of the Methodist denominatien. The first local move was made Sunday morning when Rev. H. L. Nichols delivered a strong appeal, giving seven reasons why the fund should be raised, and the benefits derived therefrom. A sacrifice might be necessary to accomplish the purpose but it is worth while. Rev. T. C. Chapman of Bethel will exchange with the pastor and occupy the pulpit next Sunday, delivering an address upon the same theme, this will be followed in another week by a prominent Lewiston layman's appeal.

Mrs. Fannie Clark entertained the Swastika Club at her home on Main street, Wednesday evening.

"WORKS BOTH WAYS"

The getting of two distinct values when purchasing one article aplies pretty generally in the field of merchandise these times, extending even unto liniments. While most articles of this nature are intended for external use only, a notable exception is the famous Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Powerful enough for every requirement of outside application when needed for sprains, muscular rheumatism, all aches, pains and soreness, it is, in addition, a wonderfully effective preparation for internal use in the cases of colds, coughs, sore throat, cramps, chills, etc., when necessary that its remarkable soothing and healing qualities go direct to the seat of an inward trouble. Thus, in Johnson's Anodyne Liniment you get two in one—internal and external use—the double value liniment as it is known. Over 100 years of splendid service to humanity has made Dr. Abner Johnson's prescription a household word, and present day users speak of it as "an angel in disguise."—adv.

Work Resumed

This place is on the gain. Once more we can see the smoke from the little saw mill down in the hollow formerly run by Herman Billings. It was bought by Charles Douglass of Bethel. He has been sawing shingles the past week. Geo. Hudson was engineer, he is learning to run it and had fine success. It is understood there will be quite a business done here this winter and next spring.

John Thurlow of this place is up country at work for Potter Davis. He wrote home, there was four feet of snow up there now.

Frank Cummings is in New Hampshire It is understood here that he has leased the Baldwin mill and is running it himself. Pat, his son, is engineer. He was down to Locke's Mills looking for help. Four of the boys are going up to work this winter. They will find it some chilly when it gets to be 60 degrees below, which it does quite often.

John Hemmingway and his wife, Lillie, are now keeping house by themselves. They have a cozy little home.

Mrs. Judkins is still in Massachusetts with her son.

Hattie Flint is working at Bemis Corner for the store keeper, Mitchell.

"Only 'Gets-It' for Me After This!"

It "Gets" Every Corn Every Time. Painless. Nothing More Simple.

"I'll tell you what, I've quit using toe-eating salves for corns, I've quit making a package out of my toes with bandages and contraptions—quit digging with knives and scissors. Give me 'GETS-IT' every time!"

When You See These Pretty Girls in Your Druggist's Window It's a Good Time To End Your Corns.

That's what they all say the very first time they use "GETS-IT." It's because "GETS-IT" is so simple and easy to use—put it on in a few seconds—because there is no work or corn-fooling to do, no pain that shoots up to your heart. It gets your corns off your mind. All the time it's working—and then, that little old corn peels right off, leaves the clean, corn-free skin underneath—and your corn is gone! No wonder millions prefer "GETS-IT". Try it tonight. "GETS-IT" is sold and recommended by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Norway and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by F. P. Stone.

Who Fired the Shot?

Gerald Cole of Greenwood was another victim on Saturday of somebody's carelessness with a gun. Gerald, who is a student at Gould's Academy, Bethel, came to his home in Greenwood Friday night and Saturday in company with his father, Fred Cole, went to Overset mountain hunting. He wore a red jacket but just as he raised his arm to part some bushes a shot was fired which tore the flesh from the bone from his shoulder to his elbow.

The father got his son home with considerable difficulty. Two physicians were called and dressed the wound. It is reported that two hunters were seen in the distance but did not come to the scene of the accident. Young Cole is expected to recover.

RUMFORD.

Instantly Killed

Edward Deroche of Mexico, was instantly killed about six o'clock Monday morning while at work in the Oxford paper mill. Mr. Deroche's work took him about the evaporator, as it is known, and while he was preparing his liquor for the evaporator a part of the evaporator blew off, it is understood, hitting Mr. Deroche on the head and tearing away a portion of his face.

Mr. Deroche was 29 years old, and leaves a widow, who is the daughter of Mrs. Archie Arsenault, and a little child a year old.

Bound Over to March Term

Harry Marston of Mexico was bound over to the March term of the Supreme Court on the charge of negligently shooting and killing Clarence Campbell of Rumford while hunting. Marston is a member of Co. B Second Maine Infantry, which recently returned from the Mexican border. He furnished $2,000 bail. Campbell was shot through the heart.

"PAY UP" WEEK

"Pay-up" week means that during the six working days thereof every one shall pay his debts. In order to determine the workings of the plan a merchant attached to a $5 bill paid to a creditor, a memorandum blank on which each person who used the bill in wiping out an indebtedness was asked to note the transaction.

When the week ended it was found that 58 persons had received the bill in payment of a debt. In other words, one $5 bill had extinguished $290 worth of indebtedness. In the course of its journeying the bill was twice received by the man who originally started it on its way, two different men who owed him $5 having used it to cancel their obligations and each time he sent it out again in disposing of debts that he owed.—Christian Science Monitor.

THANKSGIVING DAY IS NEAR

Thanksgiving will be here next Thursday and in many ways it is one of our most delightful events. It comes at a time when the rigors of winter are not yet at hand.

We have at our disposal all of the vared products of the soil, and the time for a season of partial rest for the farmer is at hand.

One of its most delightful features, which has become general, is the gathering together under the old roof-tree of all the scattered sons and daughters on that day.

Two, three and sometimes four generations thus meet around the festive and hospitable of the old homestead, and thus fraternal ties are strengthened and filial piety is encouraged.

It was a good custom that was handed down to us from the days of John Alden and the native Priscilla—the custom of setting apart one day in the year to give a thank feast to the glory of God's goodness.

We are much indebted to Colonial Massachusetts for a festival so distinctively American and so appropriately national in its character and observance.

And we must acknowledge further indebtedness, even if of a commercial nature, to Massachusetts for the famous Cape Cod cranberry, which seems to have been especially created to give tart and spice to the roast turkey and dressing so indissolubly associated with the table traditions of Thanksgiving day.

In early days the good parson preached a sermon in the church with prayers, praise and singing. Of late years this has been omitted as we are surely drifting away from church control and influence. Sad to say but it is true.

How man Thanksgiving sermons and church gatherings will there be in Oxford County this year. Watch the news in our local columns and you will see.

Should it be so?

HEBRON.

Special Prizes Offered

Hebron students are exceedingly elated over the prospect of competing for the prizes which have been offered to the academy by Mrs. Kate Tryon. There are two of these nature study prizes, the first of five dollars is to go to the boy who between now and commencement day, shall be able to point to her or Mrs. Dwyer, the largest number of specimens of the wild hawthorne shrub which the boy himself, unaided has found on solitary walks in Hebron. He must also present a written statement of the different ways in which he believes he has been benefitted by undertaking the search.

Then the boy who shows the second largest number of hawthornes will receive the same prize if his statement surpasses in excellence that of the one who exceeded him.

Mrs. Tryon explained to the pupils that the hawthorne is unmistakable even in winter by its sharp thorns. Although the most characteristic shrub in England it is quite rare in New England. While in Hebron these past six weeks, Mrs. Tryon has found a few in her rambles and believes there may be more.

Prizes, also, are offered to the girls. She, who writes the best essay showing fine feeling for and appreciation of the beauties of nature and the charm of life in the open air, will win five dollars. Mrs. Tryon has pointed out that inspiration for this essay may be found in many writers, but the two authors recommended are our own Thoreau and the English Jeffries. Description of personal experience is expected and the essays are to be presented by the first of June.

MAINE AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Maine Automobile Association is to be held at the Falmouth Hotel, Portland, Wednesday evening, December 13. The date was originally set for Thursday, but the change was made necessary by the inability to get some of the speakers for the later date.

It is planned to make the meeting one of the most notable road conventions that has ever been held in Maine, and speakers of national reputation will be invited to give addresses.

Among those to whom invitations will be sent will be David F. Houston, Secretary of Agriculture; President Deane of the American Association, who is Chief Engineer of the Massachusetts Highway Commission; Governor Charles W. Gates, of Vermont; Governor Oakley C. Curtis and Governor-elect Carl E. Milliken, of Maine; Col. Sohier, Chairman of the Good Roads Committee of the American Automobile Association and probable chairman of the New York State Highway Commission; A. G. Batcheldor, Washington, D. C., Chairman of the Executive Committee of the American Automobile Association, the principal State officers of Maine, and many other people prominent in highway and automobile affairs.

The banquet will be held at 7 in the evening and will be followed by the addresses and regular business. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected and the annual reports will be given. The meeting is open to all members of the Maine Automobile Association and to all those interested in the good roads movement in Maine. Future highway legislation in this State will be discussed and one of the principal topics to come up for consideration will be the method of raising money to continue highway construction in Maine.

An Interesting Letter From Joseph Andrews.

Dear Advertiser: I have been reviewing my scrap book No. one, and the eight letters I wrote to the Advertiser about 1909, giving sketches of the Old Families of Lovell Center and West Fryeburg, also scrap book No. 2 in which are pasted the cuttings of the 23 letters I wrote to the Advertiser telling of my house to house canvass over the same ground in 1912, and I find that I told about all that is to be told in those sketches, and all that I shall try to do now is to take note of the few changes that have taken place during the past four years and perhaps occasionally get into a reminiscent mood.

As noted in my last letter, my first stop was at West Fryeburg at Henry Andrews', and there is where I will begin my story. Mr. Andrews has one of the finest farms in Fryeburg. I found them all alone. I found him busy with his haying, I think it was 75 big loads of hay that he cut last season besides a large second crop. His big barn was filled to the ridge-pole with the fragrant hay and he sold quite a lot in the field. He keeps no stock, not even a cow, only a span of work horses. He sells all his hay, and keeps up the fertility of his fields by buying ashes by the car lot and sewing it on the land. He has no trouble in hiring men with teams to do his haying, and thus solves the hired help problem, both on the farm and in the house.

In addition to his fine farm he owns valuable timber land and is one of the wealthy citizens of the town. Mrs. Andrews keeps a fine flock of Rhode Island Red chickens, in which she takes much pride, and who pay her for her care and feed with well filled baskets of eggs which find a ready sale at the village, at Summer border prices. They own a fine $1,600 auto, and their daughter Calista is their driver. She is the wife of Willis Farrington, a thrifty young farmer who, with his mother, owns a fine farm a mile and a half down the road. Their son, Charles Andrews, traded his fine farm home in West Fryeburg with his father for the latter's choice village residence where he and his wife and daughter Ethel live and where he is kept busy selling and repairing autos, and looking after a first class garage business. Mary, the oldest daughter, is the wife of Loyd Stephens. They have one daughter, Lillian. Mr. Stephens owns and operates what used to be the Old Osborn Charles saw mill. He has greatly improved the mill by installing a steam engine and boiler, so that he can run the mill the year round regardless of high or low water. He is at work on a 2,000,000 feet contract, sawing the lumber from a lot adjoining the mill pond, while Richard Webster and Ray Ballard have been working all summer, and have a winter's job cutting and snaking the logs to the pond.

I called twice on E. W. Burbank. He is badly crippled with rheumatism and has to get around on crutches. As his wife is almost helpless from the same trouble, Mr. Burbank has to be both housekeeper and nurse, and has a pretty strenuous time of it keeping things in order. I enjoyed a pleasant call one evening at the home of Bryon Hutchins. He had his barn chuck full of hay, and was hauling his sweet corn to the village canning factory. Mr. and Mrs. Hutchins are hard working people. They have raised up a large family of children and have led strenuous lives with plenty of hard work to do. The cozy brick house in which they live was, in my younger days, the home of my sister Hannah, wife of Edmond Shirley, and the old store building just beyond, which has been used for a dwelling for many years, was then used and occupied as a store, kept by Abraham Andrews and Edmond Shirley. I remember that it was a great treat to me when a small boy and visiting my West Fryeburg friends, to call at the store and sometimes be treated to a stick of candy, or a glass of lemonade. I regret that I did not get to call on Walker McKeen. He had the night job of running the electric light plant and was away a part of the time on an agricultural lecturing tour.

Nathaniel Hardy had passed away and was laid away beside his wife in the nearby burying ground. He had recently bought a large lot in the new annex to the cemetery to which he had removed his wife's remains and had erected a valuable monument. This annex, which includes the Haley, Hutchins, Andrews and Hardy lots, is well improved and inclosed by a substantial iron fence. Mr. Hardy's neat trim stand of farm buildings are empty and unoccupied. A sad reminder of the brevity of human life.

At Dean Ballard's I visited several times. I found him very busy haying. In fact, he was haying most of the time that I was there. His big cattle barn and horse stable were both packed full of hay. The last two weeks of my stay he was busy inspecting the sweet corn fields and instructing the farmers when to begin harvesting and hauling their corn to the canning factory at the village. Ida, next to the youngest daughter, is her father's housekeeper, while Alice, the youngest, is assistant housekeeper and student. Louise, the third daughter, married Archie Weeks of Chatham, of whom I shall write later.

I came near missing Stephen Hardy. I had a pleasant chat with him a few days before I left. He had just returned home from a hospital where he had been taking treatment and was very much improved in health.

I visited the old West Fryeburg Cemetery several times. Here more than 40 of my kinsmen are buried and many other old friends. At least six new mounds of old time friends have appeared since I was there four years ago. They are Pascal Hutchins, Mary Webster, Willard and Olive Charles, Dean Andrews and Nathaniel Hardy.

I called several times on that old veteran of the civil war, David Hill, and wife. He is nearing his 90th mile stone. I found he and his wife in their usual good health. I did not think to inquire about the health of Nimrod, the family horse, 26 years old, but I think he is on the job yet, as I saw Mr. Hill out buggy riding several times. Farther down the road I had a little chat with James Hardy. He was working all alone and was busy storing away a load of hay. He elevated it with a horse and hay fork, then went up on a ladder and stored it away.

At the home of Willis Farrington I visited twice, and enjoyed my visit very much. He and his wife (nee Calista Andrews) and mother have a beautiful and commodious home and fine farm. At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Walker (nee Ballard) I enjoyed several fine visits, also with Mr. Walker's father, who is living with the children since the death of his wife. As usual their big barn was filled with hay, and they had a large field of sweet corn which they were busy harvesting.

It was here in West Fryeburg that I got my fill of blueberries. Down in David Hill's, and Dean Ballard's pasture, on the intervale there were many bushels of them. I went berrying four times and picked besides what I could eat, about 15 quarts. Nowhere else in my wanderings did I find a single blueberry, but blackberries were plenty wherever I went.

Prof. Melvin Ballard of Washington, D. C., a brother of Dean Ballard, has for many years taken his annual summer vacation at Fryeburg, boarding with his niece, Mrs. Emma Walker, at West Fryeburg. It was there that I met him several times during my visit to Maine four years ago. He loved the home of his childhood and continued his visits just the same after the death of his mother. He will visit the old home no more in the flesh for he has crossed the still deep waters of death, to meet his loved ones in the spirit land. About two years ago while out for a walk in Washington, he had an epileptic shock and fell unconscious in the street and lived but a short time.

I will now go back to my starting point and travel the other way for a while. Word comes from Calista Andrews, sister of Henry Andrews that she is seriously ill at the home of her nephew Dr. Walter Winchester, at Flint, Mich., with leakage of the heart. Her cousin, Fannie B. Fessenden, who lives in Western Canada, has come east to help care for her. Miss Andrews has acted the good samaritan all her life and has devoted a good share of the last forty years to the care of invalid friends and relatives, and now in her hour of pain and suffering she has the sympathy of her many friends, and their fervent wish that she may soon be restored to strength and health again. Melvin Andrews, a brother of Calista and Henry Andrews, is the odd chick of the family. He has never married and lives alone, a kind of hermit's life. A year or two ago he leased an acre of wood land about one-fourth of a mile down Ballard's brook, almost down to the Saco river and here far removed from the busy world's care and strife, he has built a neat comfortable one-room house, with cement block basement below, and a loft above and neat wood shed and work shop adjoining. He has cleared up his little farm, fenced it in with a high woven fence, and expended a good deal in terracing up around the house. I called on him about the middle of September and found him busy in his garden. He had a fine display of sweet peas and other flowers. Has grape vines growing, and a fine start in small fruit, also apple and pear trees and a splendid garden. He likes solitude and to be alone, and takes great pleasure in working, and tidying up his little farm. He is one of six of my school companions who attended school with me in the winter of 1866-7, and who are all still living in the West Fryeburg school district.

Yours truly,
Joseph Andrews.

WILSON'S MILLS

Mr. and Mrs. Newell Littlehale were called to Auburn early in the week, as their daughter, Mrs. E. H. Brooks, had been seriously burned by her clothing taking fire from a gas stove; they were accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. J. W. Buckman.

Elwyn Storey, with his mother, Mrs. Bertha Wilson and his sister, Mrs. Millie Linnell, were callers at E. S. Bennett's the first of the week.

The heavy snowfall beginning in the evening of Sunday of last week and lasting until Tuesday night, with the subsequent cold weather, has put the boats on the lake out of commission, on account of the ice.

Mrs. D. C. Bennett is at Lewiston with her daughter, Cecil Bennett, who has had an operation on her throat.

F. W. York is on the sick list.

The man who didn't believe in "preparedness" went deer hunting recently. He shot his deer, but had neither hatchet, hunting knife, nor even a jackknife with him. The nearest to a weapon he could find was a safety pin. Whether that will convert him to the ways of "preparedness," remains to be seen.

ALBANY

Mrs. Lizzie M. Merrill

Mrs. Lizzie M Merrill died at her home in Albany Sunday, November 5th, at the age of 49 years and 6 months. Death was due to peritonitis.

Mrs. Merrill was the daughter of Isaac and Etta Flint and was born in Albany, May 3rd, 1867. She was educated in the schools of Albany where most of her life has been spent. For some years she resided in Auburn with the family of E. L. Tibbetts, for six years at North Bridgton. On June 4, 1901 she was united in marriage with David L. Merrill at North Bridgton. She was an attendant at the Congregational church and a member of the Ladies' Circle at Albany.

Besides housekeeping, Mrs. Merrill nursed considerably and faithfully cared for many sick ones. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Flint, one brother, Preston Flint, and two sisters, Emma A. Flint and Susie E. Flint.

The funeral was held Monday, Nov. 6, the officiating clergyman being Rev. C. N. Eliopoulus. The bearers were Fred Scribner, Roy Wardwell, Leon Kimball and Cecil Kimball. Burial took place at Albany Cemetery, Hunt's Corner. Mention was made in last week's Advertiser in regard to the funeral and the list of flowers was then given.

WEST LOVELL.

Mrs. Georgie Chadbourne has returned to Sweden after stopping at her cottage here.

G. W. Andrews had an ill turn the last of the week.

Ralph R. McAllister got a deer Monday and Fred Stearns and others got two Friday.

Webster McAllister and mother returned from Portland Friday, where they had been to attend the fruit show.

M. A. LeBaron and Kate Williams visited at Mrs. Caroline Fox's.

School did not commence this week, owing to the schoolhouse being painted so there will be two weeks of vacation instead of one.

A. K. Lord and D. W. Nichols lately showed the writer two chambers of fine corn raised this year.

EAST GREENWOOD.

Mrs. Gertrude McAllister of South Paris visited at her uncle's, Will Yates', Sunday.

School finishes Friday for a week's vacation. Mabel V. Bailey intends to come back to teach the next term.

Lois Swift and children, also Hattie Curtis, were at Mrs. Will Yates' one day this week.

Elfie Green, the nurse who has been caring for Mrs. Ernest R. Curtis and baby, returned to her home on Pike's Hill, Sunday.

Will Yates and E. R. Curtis have both had their pigs killed this week.

S. B. Stanley, Kezar Falls and A. E. Chute, Otisfield have been appointed notaries public.

The Maine Press Association meets at Portland, January 18, 19—headquarters at Falmouth Hotel.

WEST FRYEBURG.

Large Game Plentiful

Last week was notable for several deer secured in the sections nearby. On the Grover Hill street Wednesday the 15th, Lester Tyler secured a large one and the next day Ralph Hill had the good luck to shoot one while his brother Clifton shot a bear at the same time.

Saturday, Fred Hutchins brought down a deer said to weigh one hundred and seventy-five pounds. We were told that on a recent day a bear and a deer hung, one on each side of the stage on the way to the Fryeburg station.

Winter seems to have set an early this year regardless of the scarcity and high price of coal.

Pearl Boyd of Conway several of whose relatives live in Fryeburg, went to Europe several months ago and enlisted in the army in a regiment being recruited in London. A report of his death in the field being circulated, some of his relatives wrote to headquarters for information and learned that a soldier of the like name in the same regiment had been killed in battle, but not the young man known to many in this section.

Harold Andrews has been a guest at his parental home in East Conway recently, but has returned to his home in Providence, R. I., where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Andrews, contemplate spending the approaching winter months.

HEBRON.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Gurney and baby Raymond visited the fruit show in Portland Thursday and Friday and called on their daughter, who is training at the Eye and Ear Infirmary.

A number from Hebron Grange attended South Paris grange Saturday.

G. I. Conant held an auction at his farm Thursday.

H. K. Stearns was given a surprise party at his home Tuesday evening in honor of his birthday.

There will be a dance at Hebron Grange Hall, Friday evening, Nov. 24.

A. A. Conant returned home Saturday from Vermont where he attended the New England Fruit Show.

Frank Moody has gone to Redding to pack apples and while there he will go deer hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. Bessey spent the week-end in South Paris.

Lillian Winslow of Sturtevant Home spent the week end at her home in Portland.

Mrs. Hersey Monroe has returned to her home in Washington, D. C., after spending several months with her sister, Mrs. A. M. Richardson.

Mrs. John McGee and daughter Verna, who are staying at G. I. Conant's, spent the week end at their home in Buckfield.

Annie Hobbs of Lynn, Mass., has been a recent guest of her sister, Mrs. C. W. Cummings.

Among those who attended the Apple Show at Portland last week, were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Conant, H. G. Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Gurney.

Mrs. Earl Stone of South Sudbury, Mass., is visiting Mr. Stone's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. U. Stone.

Columbia Bumpus is visiting her niece, Mrs. A. G. Bowman.

Grace Keene of East Hebron has been working for W. H. Berry of East Hebron for a few days.

HARBOR.

Rev. and Mrs. Souther were in Conway, Monday, and have since been sick with colds.

John Hull has started in for the winter with the largest stock in the place. He has 40 head of cattle, four of which are oxen, a pair of horses, three colts, three sheep, 21 swine, between 70 and 80 hens, a flock of pigeons, a dog and several cats.

Alonzo and Urban Hall, who are working in the woods, brought in a deer, Saturday. John Seavey also got one, Saturday.

Will Thompson has plenty of water after drilling fifty-one feet in his well.

Rev. and Mrs. Souther entertained her niece, who goes to Sweden to teach school, over Sunday.

Thomas Stearns of Lovell visited his nephew, Walter Benson, and family one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Heald have gone to Portland for the winter.

Mrs. Edith Charles and two children were guests at C. E. Stanley's, Monday.

The scholars gave a box supper at the schoolhouse, Friday night. After supper the children gave a short entertainment, proceeds to go for a new teacher's desk.

Would YOU Deceive Your Friend?

Not likely—knowingly, but you may deceive any one— even your worthy wife—if you buy jewelry anywhere but in a REAL Jewelry store—a store in which Jewelers and Watchmakers are in charge—men who know the goods they handle—men whose guarantee to you means something.

You can't afford to risk presenting "fake" jewelry to any one at Christmas time, or at any other time.

Piano Recital

Mrs. Stella Burnham of South Paris, who for a number of years has had piano pupils in this place, gave a recital at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester H. Lane, Jr., last Saturday afternoon, which is the first she has ever given here, and which proved a very enjoyable and well prepared affair. She has ten pupils here. All were present except two, Iola and Annie Chandler of Sumner, who were not able to come and each demonstrated her skill in a very delightful manner. Following is the program:

Duet, Caprice..Mrs. Burnham, Edith Gardner
Blush Rose.....Bertha Perry
Duet, On to Triumph.....
.....Hester Ordway, Helen Emely
March Militair.....Ethel Flavin
Duet, Martha..Margaret Lane, Mrs. Burnham
Song of the Brook.....Helen Emely
Duet, Cecelia..Edith and Ethelwyn Gardner
Minuet.....Hester Ordway
Trio, March Des Tambours.....
Bertha Perry, Juneta Dinsmore, Dale Swift
The Dreamer.....Ethelwyn Gardner
Duet,
a Polka
b Tarantille
.....Bertha Perry and Mrs. Burnham
Les Pierrots.....Juneta Dinsmore
Dolls Dream.....Margaret Lane
a Whippoorwill
b Boy Scouts on Parade
.....Dale Swift
Apple Blossoms.....Elva Brock
Eu Masque.....Edith Gardner
Joyous Peasant.....Helen Emely
Nightingale's Trill.....Bertha Perry
Mountain Stream.....Hester Ordway
Duet March..Edith Gardner, Mrs. Burnham

A number of friends and relatives were invited, fifteen or more were present. Dale Swift was the only boy pupil, who was present. Edward Penley is another who has only recently commenced taking lessons.

Mrs. Burnham has been a music teacher for a number of years, in fact has been full of music since early childhod as her father, the late John Willis of this place, once told your correspondent, that "she would play the piano when she had to stand on her tip toes to reach the key board."

Therefore being a resident of South Paris, a former resident here and a teacher all along the Grand Trunk, she needs no further recommendation. Her work speaks for herself and her willingness to help out in public entertainments whenever called upon can always be relied upon so far as she is able.

We mentioned the surprise birthday party at John E. Brock's last week, Monday evening. It was a jolly party that invaded his house and a delightful surprise in his house. Those who were present were Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Stilwell and son Edward, Mr. and Mrs. Chester H. Lane and daughter Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Estes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Patch and daughter Mary and Rev. and Mrs. L. W. Grundy. They presented Mr. Brock with a fountain pen, lively games were played and delicious refreshments were served by Mr. Brock.

An all day grange meeting Saturday, Nov. 25. Dr. Ness of Auburn will speak on dairying and the prevention of disease in animals in the afternoon. Music and other interesting things will also be on the program. It will be an open meeting in the afternoon and a cordial invitation is extended.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving French of Newry are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adney Tuell.

Harry Swan, Fred Waterhouse and Osgood have each brought home venison. Mr. Waterhouse's was a beautiful large 12 point buck.

Rev. Harry Adams of Aroostook county gave a very able address on temperance at the Universalist church last week, Tuesday evening, to a good sized audience.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bowker are going to remain here this winter with Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Smith. Mr. Bowker will clerk in the store. They plan to go to Millsfield again in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Welch have gone to Kingfield, their old home, on a three or four weeks' vacation.

Harry Rowe and family have moved into Mrs. Effie Hammond's house beyond Trap Corner.

EAST STONEHAM

Merton McAllister is ill and under a physician's care.

Bert Brown from Waterford is driving stage.

Abbie Hill, who has been sick for the past few weeks, does not gain very fast.

Moses Grover, Clarence Files and Arthur Curtis each got a deer Saturday.

Rev. Eliopoulus gave an oriental dinner at his home Wednesday. Those attending were Mrs. Charles Bartlett, Mrs. Fred Bartlett, Mrs. Edwin Allen, Mrs. Emma Brown and Minnie Littlefield.

Alice Adams, who is teaching school at Hunt's Corner, visited her sister, Mrs. John Files, Saturday and Sunday.

George Stearns visited at Melvin Bartlett's Sunday.

Elizabeth Bartlett, who is attending High School at Norway, is at home this week with a bad cold.

Eulalie Parker visited her friend, Helen Bartlett, in Bartlett Bow a few days last week.

Albert Keniston was in town last week for a few days' hunting trip.

School began here Monday with Miss Perry as teacher. She is boarding with Mrs. Vergil Littlefield.

Mrs. M. F. Small has returned home from St. Louis.

WEST SUMNER

Mrs. Ella Doble remains very sick. Mrs. Alvin Geary is caring for her and she also has a girl to do the housework.

Charlie Barrows has shot a deer in his field.

Mrs. Inez Bisbee has been visiting her friend, Hattie Curtis of West Paris for several days.

Everard Robbins has received the sad news of his aged mother, who has fell and hurt herself seriously and has had to go to the Lewiston hospital.

Earl Brown, the mill man of Buckfield is repairing Ella Chandler's mill.

Arthur Chandler has moved into his new home.

Mrs. John Bonney, superintendent of schools, has visited all her schools.

NORTHEAST LOVELL.

Mrs. Bert F. Kendall and two daughters visited at her parents', Mr. and Mrs. Frank McAllister's, several days last week in Stoneham.

Adna Rowe has a severe cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Brackett took dinner Sunday at his mother's, Mrs. Freeman Andrews'.

Irvin Heald of Heald's Lake shot two deer, Saturday.

James Brackett and George Files went to Stoneham hunting, Saturday, with Mr. Files' father, John Files.

Charles Stanford and father, also Sewell Andrews and family, took dinner, Sunday, at Otis Andrews'.

EAST OXFORD

A. K. Thomas and Stanley L. Pratt each shot a deer in the vicinity of Hebron, one day last week. The deer are numerous and so are the hunters.

Cornelia B. Caldwell of Freeport visited her sister, Mrs. Annie Witham, over Sunday.

Mrs. Carrie Noble has closed her house. She and her daughter Clara will spend the winter in Arlington, Mass.

Mrs. Edwin O. Sands spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Dexter S. White at East Auburn.

Elmer Twitchell of Fore street, Oxford is packing apples in this place.

Ernest Wentworth has moved to Waterford, on a farm which he purchased last spring.

Wm. Morse had the misfortune to have one of his horses drop dead Saturday.

Julius Fuller should have "the record" this year for being the last one to dig potatoes, having several men digging on a piece Nov. 20th and 21st. They were under the snow, but in good condition. Needless to say, they were hurried under cover and not left out to "dry." Mr. Fuller has worked away on a stone work for a bridge, hence the lateness of his own work.
